(OOV_comment_begin) That is n't true. The conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan are anything but successful for the OOV It is literally exactly the OOV They are dying by the OOV The US is n't accomplishing its goals very quickly , but that does n't suggest that the " rebels " there are OOV Furthermore , the goal of a rebellion literally OOV the defeat of your OOV A rebellion is an existential threat with only binary outcomes available. By definition .

(OOV_comment_begin) If you think of warfare through those means you 'll never understand it. War is millions of extremely complicated people , with extremely complicated motivations , in extremely complicated cultures , economies , terrains , technological advancements , attempting to beat the other team by self imposed rules that are themselves pretty complicated .

(OOV_comment_begin) that does n't matter. we 'd have to work hard to make sure they no longer do .

(OOV_comment_begin) It does matter. OOV does not exist because parties exist. Parties exist because partisanship OOV Just look back at the reasons why the first parties were created : like-minded people wanted the best shot to implement their OOV In order to get rid of parties , you have to get everyone to agree on everything. Good luck with that .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV I guess evidence is out of the question .

(OOV_comment_begin) I would be happy to provide evidence and OOV I will follow up with it in an edit after I 'm done making OOV Do you have any evidence ? I realize that the numbers speak for themselves , but it 's a class problem , not a race problem , and the fact that certain races inhabit certain classes is part of a larger problem of long enduring OOV your view actually being some solid anecdotal evidence for why this is occurring at all .

(OOV_comment_begin) Crime , SES status and race are all strongly correlated , I think we can agree on this. Likewise we can agree that correlation alone does not evidence OOV However crime SES status and gender are also OOV But no one makes the argument that males only cause crime because of OOV Why do the same for race ? Males dont have the excuse of slavery or Jim Crow to deflect the obvious ... there 's a significant genetic component to criminality .

(OOV_comment_begin) If that example makes you more warm and fuzzy , then sure , it works both ways. The point is that you can be amplifying OOV discrimination without knowing it. It 's a lot harder to be fair , and to make fair rules , than it OOV Which is why quotas are a lot better. If you believe no race is superior , and your local community has 12 % blacks , then there should be about 12 % blacks in executive OOV As well as 12 % blacks in junior OOV And about 50 % women. Etc .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV are n't fair though. Why should you be penalized for other people of your race doing well ? That 's OOV If you penalizing someone based off of their race , that 's OOV You want to fight discrimination with more discrimination ? That makes you just as racist (OOV_comment_begin) OOV How so ? If everyone is equal regardless of race , then your hiring practices should result in an equal number of people from every race and gender , based on local percentages of population. If your local population has 12 % blacks , you should be hiring 12 % OOV If you are n't , then your hiring practices have some hidden racist criteria , like the one I pointed out in my original example. If on the other hand you think races are n't equal , that is OOV definition of being a OOV Choose one .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV I 'm ping you because I think it 's very important that you actually understand and acknowledge what I OOV It 's concerning to me that you think that being a self made billionaire is a " once in a generation " thing. It speaks to the sentiments that OOV has and I think it 's a very toxic thing that many folks engage in. A self-fulfilling prophecy if you will. If the media and yourself tell you that you ca n't succeed , then you OOV are you going to become a billionaire ? Probably not , but you can definitely make better for yourself if you put some effort at it .

(OOV_comment_begin) I hope capitalism burns to ashes before my eyes in my lifetime - or at least suffers and OOV and the seeds of it 's downfall are firmly OOV I do n't want to be a billionaire , and I am not impressed by the supposed " drive " of OOV Half of them should be in OOV Success is n't measured by wearing the boot instead of being under it. OOV This OOV me. I have no lack of drive to improve myself , but choose to better myself in ways that are not so easily quantified in a OOV life view and overall make me a much better person than someone who is driven primarily by monetary gain .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV It 's funny that you hate capitalism so much that you 've willfully deluded yourself into believing factually incorrect things. ( " Once in a generation self made billionaire " ) I mean , I think capitalism is great. It needs regulation in some ( most ) areas , but it 's produced the greatest societies the world has ever seen and deviations from that have pretty OOV crashed and OOV Non capitalist societies work okay in small agrarian communities , but that 's generally a much harder life than what most of us in capitalist America have grown accustomed to .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV , so the forcing of women to have sex is not supposed to be shameful ? You want rape to be legal , and feel it is natural ? If that is the case , we are pretty much done OOV But one more empathy exercise , just for shits and OOV How do you feel about someone raping your mother , your daughter ? Is that perfectly okay ?

(OOV_comment_begin) this is why people are anti feminist , because the very idea of rape is related to men specifically , to the point where you crazy OOV say shit like this if rape is brought up. it doesnt even occur to you that being singled out as a gender thats predisposed to it could be damaging , and that we should teach the same thing to apply to both genders , you just immediately jump on the rape culture train and start shaming men. this right here , is why you arent taken seriously .

(OOV_comment_begin) Yes or no ? The “ responsibility to provide and protect ” is not as difficult now as it was in the past. In fact , now , it 's about 8 hours of dealing with your boss then going home. Raising children is a job that you never get a break from. And alongside that having to maintain a home and cook every meal and maintain a relationship with a OOV Maybe you should look into your own argument before finding flaws in mine ?

(OOV_comment_begin) How does this detract from literally anything I 've said ? ( respond to this before anything ) . And besides do you think because it is easier to do something now the issues at hand ought to be ignored as privileged whining ? Also , 8 hours of dealing with your boss is n't easy as you think and there 's always work pressure and office politics you have to deal with . If you think raising children is not your cup of tea why did you choose to do it anyway , instead works for 8 hours and deal with an asshole boss and have yourself enough money for daycare OOV and whatever you can OOV OOV Why is this statement necessary ? (OOV_comment_begin) OOV Yes , because how dare us look at what they do instead of listening to the lies they tell us. OOV /s

(OOV_comment_begin) Look up the “ violence against women act. ” I do n't remember if it was 2012 or 2013. All it did was give a man a longer sentence for hitting a woman than if a woman hit a man or a man hit a man. Kinda the opposite of equal rights. And yet democrats shamed republicans for voting against that bullshit bill

(OOV_comment_begin) So OOV I do n't care that someone else blamed them for something else. I made no declaration or proffered no opinion on that bill or it 's subject. I 'm merely stating that looking at the voting record is a much better way to determine what politicians want and are in support of than what they say ( and a better predictor of what they will support in the future ) . And this goes either way. Democrats can be equally condemned in this manner ( although , depending on your own political views more or less so ) . The point being made by OOV is that in many cases those bills are OOV better for society or the people. He did n't list every possible bit of legislation he agrees with or thinks makes one side look better or worse. He chose specific legislation that would be of OOV benefit. He also does n't speak to legislation that would be even better than those provided ... as I 'm sure there are better ideas than some of those bills OOV Lastly , one single bill is n't enough to explain away the litany of examples to the contrary .

(OOV_comment_begin) I think OP is trying to say that Cultural Appropriation as a OOV is valid , but something that is often used in error ( and by people who have no claim to said culture ) as a means of appearing righteous and or / morally OOV It may be misused , but the concept is n't baseless or without OOV OOV It 's a bit misleading to look at the situation that way , no ? Plenty of people individually believe that they 're 'just one person ' , and that their actions are n't significant enough to impact anything. That sort of belief is why people vote out of fear in elections ( instead of voting for who the candidates they actually favour ) , or think it 's permissible to let their friends cut in line in OOV If only ONE person did the OOV ' , the statement is true : there would be minimal to no impact on election results or wait times. But it 's never just one person , because we do n't act or live in a OOV OOV This presupposes that the OOV owners ' are numerous and/or powerful and/or in a position to assert themselves in a way that holds up their OOV ' view as the correct view ( as they see it ) . OOV OOV We can all agree : let the borrower beware - you have no one but yourself to blame if that “ AWESOME OOV OOV ” you got actually says “ Duck OOV ” . But the swastika is an interesting case : it was something appropriated from Hindu culture by the Nazi Party , and is now commonly associated first with Hitler and Nazism , as opposed to its actual [ roots in the Hindu Religion ] ( https : OOV ) . Most accusations of cultural appropriation are n't even remotely on the same level of legitimacy ( for example , an Irish person demonstrating how to make chicken OOV is not appropriation ) , and should be evaluated and disregarded once they 're found to be OOV But it 's unfair to dismiss the concept altogether .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV No , it OOV I never asserted any OOV from their action. I never said that the original owners OOV be victorious in holding onto whatever meaning they had in their OOV I said that it is incumbent on them to OOV , if they care. If they fail , then so be it. The prevailing sentiment of the public and the culture does n't care and prefers the new OOV OOV I guess I take a OOV view of the situation. I do n't believe that any particular group in this case has any inherent property ownership of their ideas. If they lose the fight , then too bad. Hopefully they had a record of what it originally meant on wikipedia at the least or some other source so anyone who wants to investigate the history of the symbol can find more information. However , if they are not important enough or the symbol to them is not important enough , then so be it. OOV Any concept is a OOV I 'm dismissing the relevance of cultural appropriation as something that “ is dangerous ” or “ is noteworthy ” or “ is something worth fighting against ” or “ taking action against ” . E.g. why the fuck are we talking about this. It 's quite literally a normal part of human interaction and OOV As you note , the swastika is an interesting example because it more or less happened. I do n't mind. The information is there and the OOV OOV had enough following and was important enough to basically The World and to the west in particular that it has asserted itself as the default or primary interpretation and idea. The key here is for people to not get their panties in a wad when they misinterpret the new meaning as the old or OOV That is the important point. Not the “ appropriation ” itself , but the coherent understanding of what the meaning is , was , and what it is not , or OOV Being tolerant of the meanings other people hold is important – being afraid to attribute your own meaning is *not* .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Would you argue that we should treat artists / inventors / creators in the same manner ? I.e. that they do not have ownership of their ideas at all ? OOV Who gets to decide if they are important enough , or if the symbol is important enough to them ? Again : if the the offended party happens to be a minority , they should just accept that bigger / more vocal / more powerful groups or individuals can just OOV whats important to that minority with impunity ? The claim of cultural appropriation OOV the OOV that [ insert thing under scrutiny ] is important. OOV I 'm not certain Darwinism is an appropriate lens to view social interaction through. It is an explanation for why ideas are overwritten or OOV , certainly , but I do n't think it should be held as something to aspire to. OOV society should aim to eliminate scenarios where brute strength and the tyranny of the masses decide what is and is n't correct or a problem. This are still discussions about this issue because people feel there is value in shielding groups or cultures from being forcibly redefined , even if it 's through indifference or refusal to recognize claims to an idea. OOV I think Hindus or Buddhists who have been accused of being OOV for simply utilizing something that has belonged to their cultures since the 2nd Century BC may mind a OOV The Nazi adoption of the OOV did n't OOV ' by being more popular - there are certainly more Hindus and Buddhists alive today than Nazis - it has been saddled with its negative association because people in the west OOV n't OOV to dig deeper for those facts .

(OOV_comment_begin) I completely OOV I am as opposed to the idea that fans are “ entitled ” as you are , but a company like valve who has been created by the loyal support of its fans is showing them a huge disservice with a lack of transparency and support to the players who have made valve what they are today. To assume that fans would be in an uproar and demand more information if valve said anything is groundless .

(OOV_comment_begin) There are currently numerous methods of identifying incurable diseases in OOV However we still have many parents who choose to keep the child even though they know perfectly well it will never be a healthy member of society. I 'm talking about stuff like Down 's disease , OOV , missing limbs , muscular dystrophy , etc. I believe that people who choose to keep a sick fetus should be punished in the same way as we would punish someone inflicting a disease on a healthy child. Here 's my rationale : 1 ) The OOV ' state of being is OOV ' , let 's rank it at 0. 2 ) Healthy individuals are on a scale between 0 and 1 : some are better off , some are worse off , but most have a good life OOV 3 ) Extremely sick individuals are somewhere between 0 and -1 : the diseases cause immense pain and suffering to the kid and the poor soul will never have a normal life. By giving birth to someone in the third category you 're moving a human being from 0 to a negative state , rather than giving birth to a healthy child and moving a soul from 0 to a positive state. If instead of getting abortion and trying again for a healthy child ( or adopting ) you choose to keep the baby , you have made an action equivalent to inflicting disease upon a healthy child. CMV .

(OOV_comment_begin) Labels are pretty important , because they have so many cultural variables attached to them. By your name it seems like you might like video games. I do to. You 've probably noticed as I have that gamers can get into absolute shit show arguments about how to define a gamer , or when something is a game or not , etc etc. This is true for just about any OOV Labels are important. If gender labels did n't carry any baggage it would be one thing , but they do. People literally jump to conclusions about people based on their OOV And not just a few conclusions , lots of them. Unlike gaming , we do n't get to choose to have those labels and the accompanying OOV We just get them. Some people do n't like the label they were born with so they want to change it. (OOV_comment_begin) According to your criteria , saying " I 'm not attracted to OOV " is bigoted , but " I am a OOV man " would not be. Also , you say " we " " believe " this about OOV Who is we ? Why must everyone conform to these theories of sexuality or else have a moral failing ?

(OOV_comment_begin) Hoo boy here we go again. You can not know with certainty that someone is or is not trans without them telling you. You can not know that your OOV is being met or not. And , I mean , sure , you could personally claim that you just do n't conform to these theories of OOV I personally think that OOV one 's sexuality by gender is rapidly becoming obsolete , for many of the reasons that I have outlined here. But seeing as you 're still going to label yourself , not to mention date within , that system , it 's a pretty futile thing to do .

(OOV_comment_begin) Just to be clear , I am aware that other ethnic groups make more money and have more privilege than white people – OOV are the richest I believe – I am using the term “ white privilege ” to refer to the privileges the racial majority of people have ( white people ) over a specific minority ( black people ) . Unlike most of the OOV internet crowd ( which , ironically enough , I typically OOV with and enjoy the material they put out ) , I believe white privilege exists , as a black man myself. Seeing the dislike rate on [ this Bill Maher video ] ( https : //www.youtube.com/watch ? OOV & OOV ) , as well as the high rate of likes on pretty much any OOV OOV video ( i.e. [ this one ] ( https : //www.youtube.com/watch ? OOV ) ) is what prompted me to make this. And I do n't think that the Bill Maher video was OOV by the OOV Train , because his other videos roasting Trump do n't have OOV as high a dislike OOV So this implies that even liberals are against the OOV There is institutional racism held against black people in the United States in 2017 , and the ripple effects of racism in the past ( namely the stonewalling of blacks decades ago from having any chance of getting into the middle class ) still exist today. If you are white , then you are inherently far more likely to be privileged than black people. ( Perhaps not relative to East Asian people , but to blacks , white privilege does exist ) . * Black people are thrown in jail at much higher rates than whites and have far worse race OOV Police accountability , municipal violations , mandatory minimums , the state of our prisons , the war on drugs ( aka the war on vegetation that some people do n't like ) , a system where prosecutors can coerce you into OOV guilty to a crime you are innocent of , being unable to afford a lawyer and forced to take an overworked public defender – all of these are problems which disproportionately affect poor people , which are overwhelmingly black people. When you have a broken criminal justice system , you will inevitably have a broken family. Conservatives ( at least the ones on the web ) love bashing the black community for OOV ; and yes , the OOV *is* a problem for the reasons they cite , but the issue is that it 's conservative policies ( the war on drugs and unfair policing in particular ) that is partially fueling it ! * A study found that employers are more likely to call back candidates with white sounding than black sounding OOV That 's just further employment OOV Plus , in these poor communities , black children who had no choice in growing up in the broke ass community they were born into are OOV into working these shitty jobs and entering these shitty OOV It 's well known that there is very limited class mobility in the US , and it is blacks who are suffering the most from it. * A history of OOV Black oppression by the government did n't end at slavery ; it continued on an on for a long time thanks to discriminatory housing laws , OOV , schools not being OOV to accept the surge of black OOV children ( much less the illiterate adults ) . This history did not abruptly end 200 years ago ; the ripple effects continue on today. Look at [ this comment ] ( https : OOV ) on a post I made last year ( wow , I 've changed a lot on this topic , have n't I ) ? * Most importantly , and I can not stress this enough : OOV There is nothing you can do that is more likely to create dysfunction in a culture than have shitty , underfunded schools that treat children as a burden to get rid of rather than a future part of the community. OOV , dangerous , underfunded schools with low-quality curriculum and bad police OOV In general , the OOV crowd *is* correct to point to violent crime and a broken family when explaining the cause of underprivileged black people ; but I believe that those are the OOV – not the OOV OOV – of the problem. Step 1 : the problems I mentioned in this post. Step 2 : blacks have more family anarchy and academic OOV Step 3 : black crime and dysfunction OOV I believe that the OOV crowd is only seeing the latter two steps of this process , and the right way to view this process is to look at all 3. This is not happening in a OOV Also , NONE of these problems ( other than problem 3 mostly ) do not affect white people. White people are absolutely affected by them to and they should fix the problems in those communities as well. This issue is about who these problems predominately affect ; and it 's OOV Now if you are white , then your privilege and black OOV is absolutely not your fault ; and I would n't say the onus is on OOV to fix our problems , but it is a political cause I sympathize with and you should to. Given how much people criticize the concept of white privilege , perhaps there is something I am missing here ( which is why I am interested in seeing this view changed provided it can be changed ) . ----- OOV

(OOV_comment_begin) You have defined privilege as an advantage that the majority has over the OOV So blacks in South Africa have black privilege , but are still worse off in every way than the white minority there. Hmm I am a right winger living in a blue state. So here people would have Democrat OOV Because of this , am I being oppressed ? And if so , what should be done about it ? Rich people are the extreme minority , but they have to deal with laws passed by the majority middle-class and OOV So we would have middle-class privilege while the rich are the OOV What should be done about this ? In summary : I agree with you. If thats what privilege is , than I agree it OOV The answer ? OOV society on racial lines. That way everyone has OOV OOV society on political lines. That way everyone has OOV I dont want to oppress you so Im going to make you OOV of where I live so you can be among your own and be OOV Build the wall and segregate all OOV to respective states to end white OOV You wont OOV this but you damn sure know this logic is bulletproof .

(OOV_comment_begin) I 'm not familiar with South Africa 's situation ; what are you trying to explain there ? When did I imply they have “ black OOV ” , plus are n't whites richer ( based on Google ) ? Can you explain what you 're trying to illustrate with this analogy more ? OOV Politics is something that can be changed ; it 's who you vote for. It 's nothing nearly like race , which you ca n't change. Is the “ oppression ” you politically face you dealing with unaccountable , OOV , asset seizing cops and living in shitty schools ? What are you trying to say – I do n't understand what you 're alluding to with this OOV OOV Are you implying that black people are rich ? Again , I have no idea how this is anything other than a false OOV I 'm not calling for racial segregation ; I am calling for the state of all this dysfunction – which affects all races ( blacks especially ) – to end so we can have racial OOV I will not OOV this comment ; not because the logic is immune to being shot full of holes ... but because it is already inherently full of holes .

(OOV_comment_begin) First , I assumed you meant in first world countries alone , because that is where I have usually seen the statistic waved about. I also assumed college age because that is the only study that has the 1 in 5 OOV I have no idea what the statistics are for irrelevant OOV like OOV I would bet that the rate is higher there. But still not 1 in 3. However , the sources you cite do not define sexual assault , thus they very well could have the same issue as the sources I cited ; that sexual assault included acts that were n't sexual assault , like having sex while OOV Also , reported assault is the only OOV Trying to guess how many people do n't report it is idiotic , because there is no way to know unless it is OOV It 's like trying to guess how many marbles are in a jar when you ca n't even see the jar .

(OOV_comment_begin) Sexually assaulting a drunk person is sexual OOV Just like robbing a drunk person is OOV I have no idea what you are talking about. And here , violent sexual assault from the CDC in the OOV [ One in 5. ] ( http : OOV ) . And anyone with a pulse knows that rape is the [ most OOV crime ] ( http : OOV ) . Linked to plenty of studies that explain the scientific methods used in collecting the data .

(OOV_comment_begin) I did not say rape of a drunk person , I said sex while OOV What is the CDC 's definition of rape ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Oddly enough , this is not true. Being a shaman is not the same as being schizophrenic - the OOV OOV of OOV come from extreme physical situations or the use of hallucinogenic OOV ( Read *The Teachings of Don OOV for a great OOV look at what being a shaman actually looks like. ) Schizophrenia is not at all the same thing as the experience of a OOV OOV Yes. And no - serial killer was an additional example of mental illness without OOV Most serial killers are not delusional - they know that they are killing people - they simply enjoy doing so and while they know it is “ wrong ” they do n’t care about social judgment ( except in so far as it might lead to not OOV able to do what they want ) . OOV Your previous stance was that if the person with the mental illness was not unhappy , they were not mentally ill. That has nothing to do with the impact on others. Is the schizophrenic who happily kills because God told him to mentally ill ? Is the sufferer of Jerusalem Syndrome who abandons her family because she is Mary Mother of God mentally ill ? If you start to focus on how their thoughts impact others , you ’ve already changed the OOV If you focus on how it impacts others , you ’ve conceded that happiness alone is not the measure of mental health. ( Which , to come back to the main point , would show that lack of a particular mental health issue in a particular OOV tribe is not evidence that they are , over all , happier and more content. It would also show that your contention that clinical depression is a fair measure of over all mental health is equally OOV ) OOV Only your contention was that if you were not unhappy you were not mentally ill , which is a lot more like saying if I ’m not in pain I am not physically ill. So the parallel would be more like a malignant tumor causing no pain ( yet ) . OOV Right , because mental health ca n’t be collapsed to a single metric ( and OOV not to a single binary metric ) . OOV is as bad a metric for mental health as OOV is .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV OOV Its pretty common knowledge. OOV How does the effect that the person has on society reflect on whether or not they are mentally ill ? At what point does your disruption of society make you mentally ill ? And for your example where your state of mind makes you do something which then causes you to go to jail or something , then clearly your state of mind doesnt make you happy ... OOV But im not focusing on that ... you are ... I dont agree that how your behavior impacts others is a metric that can define whether you are mentally ill or not. Youre erasing the line between criminal and mentally ill. We dont treat a lucid , intelligent serial killer as mentally ill. What about the soldiers who kill civilians through carelessness ? What about the guy who dropped the bomb on Hiroshima ? OOV How do you figure ? Are you assuming that when I say happiness and unhappiness im referring to one fleeting moment rather than one feels overall ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV First , West Africa is not the same as South America. Second , “ common knowledge ” often turns out to be assumption and prejudice in OOV Third , I ca n’t seem to find a single source to support this claim that does n’t come from Some , who seems to have a vested interest in this claim as it promotes his business as a workshop OOV Fourth , see OOV : An Encyclopedia of World Beliefs , Practices , and Culture , Volume 1* “ OOV and OOV ” , “ [ ... ] there are distinct differences between OOV and schizophrenic states of consciousness , not only in terms of the intentional and voluntary nature of these states , but also in terms of the affective , perceptual , and cognitive OOV ’s associated with OOV ” ( The same source will , to go back to your “ common knowledge ” inform you that this is a belief that has long been discredited by actual study in the field. ) OOV It OOV And OOV OOV Why not ? Plenty of people are happy in OOV Plus , who cares ? If they were happy before they went to prison , they were ( according to you ) not mentally ill. What does it matter if they later became unhappy ? OOV That ’s not what you said in your previous OOV “ If you take away the negative affects that these people have on others people , you could definitely call them delusional but I dont see how its an OOV Like if I have a benign tumor im not physically ill , so how is benign delusion an illness ? ” OOV No I ’m not. The serial killer is criminal and mentally ill. The woman who thinks she is Mary Mother of God is mentally ill but not OOV I ’ve given you examples of people who are happy and mentally ill and criminal and people who are happy and mentally ill and not OOV Since clearly

I think both the criminal and the OOV can be mentally ill , I am not erasing the line OOV Sure we do. We do n't treat him as criminal insane or as incompetent to stand trial or as not guilty by reason of mental disease or defect ( or whatever your state 's terminology is ) , but we still treat him as mentally ill. OOV enough to stand trial and sane are two very different things. OOV What about them ? They could be mentally ill and they could be not mentally ill. I 've no idea about their mental state. OOV Because pain is a better analogy to OOV Pain is symptom of the physical system , as unhappiness is a symptom of the psychological system. Pain can stem from multiple stimuli , like OOV Etc. The analogy is much OOV OOV I assume you are referring to a discreet moment in time , though not necessarily a fleeting moment. I assume that you would n't say 10 years of a happy childhood , followed by 5 years of an unhappiness amounted to a happy person at the end of that 5th year .

How do we stop someone from picking up a knife and stabbing somebody ? You want a guarantee everyone will be safe , but refer to what I said before ... people cause crime. People are everywhere , therefor crime can happen everywhere. Violent crime is included within crime which means violent crime can happen where ? Everywhere and with anything. Statistics for what the method of killing is can be found on the FBI and CDC OOV Both non politically biased OOV You will find guns are not as big of an issue as OOV and stabbing OOV Where is the black market getting these guns ? OOV , theft , illegal manufacture , and the hands of our own government recently ... take a look into Operation Fast and OOV The ATF made attempts to sting the cartels by allowing them to illegally purchase weapons and it OOV One of the weapons sold to the cartels by the ATF was linked to the murder of a U.S. OOV patrol OOV Even if we were to somehow ban all guns and collect them from US citizens , you would still have the black market gun trade because of previously stated reasons. You can make them , steal them ( from OOV ... they have had weapons OOV many times before ) , or import them. (OOV_comment_begin) It 's stunning to me that you ask why the current system be OOV It eludes me how 30,000 dead Americans a year means so OOV Using a gun does n't require years of planning or military service like Oklahoma or OOV A simple look at the statistics shows that. Guns are easy , and easy to get , and people use them. It 's about raising the barrier of admission to violence. At least if someone is going to try to stab you , they ca n't do it from 125 yards away like in Ferguson a couple of days ago. How useful were those cops ' guns then ? If you troubled yourself to actually (OOV_comment_begin) Sure there is , the observation that implementation of gun reforms directly correlates with reductions in gun violence much more than is OOV The data shows that the implied idea that restricting guns further would result in OOV crime ( “ only criminals will have guns ! ” ) is patently false .

(OOV_comment_begin) Again , if we 're talking about policy fundamentally about children , it 's insane to have the conversation without at least considering the impacts on kids and doing what we can to address them. It 's only a fallacy if it 's actually OOV I 'm not handing out a policy OOV here - I 'm just saying we talk about it. Other threads have led to me coming to some fine agreements with folks that do n't involve screwing over the guy in question , and do n't leave a kid in a OOV Do n't abandon a debate of ideas to OOV over fallacies , OOV if you 're going to use the textbook lines yourself ; )

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV This policy is n't “ fundamentally about children , ” though people like yourself might like to spin it that way. This policy is about responsibility and OOV We expect men who sire children to be financially responsible for those children and we hold them accountable for that responsibility. If a man did not father a child he should n't be held accountable for that child 's OOV It 's that simple. The only reason to try to bring additional considerations into the equation is to muddy the water and make things more complex than they need to be .

(OOV_comment_begin) The conversation is about child support , and who should pay it. If you think that 's spin , then you 're doing exactly what I chastised OP for - forgetting that we 're dealing with real people , real lives , and some of those lives are the lives the most OOV That 's not an “ additional consideration , ” it 's an escalation of a debate from some facile theoretical red pill talking point platform to one that actually considers all the implications of a position before making a definitive statement .

(OOV_comment_begin) First of all , appeal to authority. Secondly , I OOV look at the methodology , and here is what I found : ( pasted from a comment I made to someone else ) OOV Exactly as I predicted there is undeniably going to be a huge amount of bias in any polls conducted this way. You call people , there are certain demographics that are more likely to answer the phone than others , also , if you just lost a presidential election , you are , on average , more likely to want to talk about it , and participate in those polls .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV First of all. It ’s not. OOV Ironically these polls use land lines OOV So it in fact over represents the elderly , who vote OOV But again , this is controlled for. OOV OOV An unsubstantiated statement. Please cite how this is at all true. It ’s also very weird how this does n’t hold up for presidents like Obama : http : OOV

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV You say that it ’s a science and people are working to make it unbiased that it is therefore OOV As if these people automatically make it unbiased , it is either appeal to authority or flat out wrong. OOV How is it controlled for ? You get mad at me for making unsupported claims but here you are making an OOV OOV While I agree that using phone lines does on average yield a higher amount of elderly republican voters , I also believe that there are other effects that far outweigh this bias , such as : * time of day * the fact that people who lost are more willing to talk to polls than people who won * the types of people willing to answer a phone from a random person in the first place * etc. OOV That there is a liberal bias in the polls ? That doesnt hold up because ? But a few sources to illustrate my point : https : OOV http : OOV It should be noted that these are from the election , but are still opinion OOV If you think these are invalid just because they deal with the election , then you need to prove that the opinion polls held are somehow better than these , and why they would n’t just have used this “ super not biased method ” during the election as well .

(OOV_comment_begin) Yeah , I 've been busy so I have n't had time to type this up. You pretty much summed it up in your second OOV OOV That is n't an " assault weapon " that is a " modern gun since the turn of the 20th century.

" " Assault rifle " is defined as " a select fire weapon chambered in an intermediate OOV " Thanks to federal law they are all but banned and the legal ones in civilian hands before the ban go for between $ 5,000 and $ OOV " Assault weapon " is a made up term for political reasons that is based either on ignorance and/or OOV It pretends that a few cosmetic features inherently more OOV An extendable stock , apparently this means that 12 out of every 9 babies shot with the scary black rifle will die OOV It has nothing to do with the fact that some peoples arms are longer than others and might need different distances between the shoulder and receiver ( also know as “ length of pull ” if you care to know ) . This is like saying that any car with adjustable seats , pedals or steering wheel should be banned because it makes the car easier to race at speeds above the speed limit . Another common “ demon feature ” is a pistol magazine . Apparently the angle at which your hand meets the gun makes bullets cause more harm and the gun shoot faster , up to 3,600 rounds per minute ( well into mini gun territory ) according to CA senator Kevin de la Beazley . Yeah , you try to figure that one out. The list goes on and they add more and more features as they decide they want the ban to include more guns but at the end of the day it is all political grandstanding based on ignorance and fear. They are cosmetic and ergonomic features that are simply parts of new guns . Oh yeah , another “ evil feature ” is a bayonet . They are there for looks since bayonets have been less and less relevant every single day since the self contained cartridge was invented over 150 years ago. If you can find a single , violent crime committed by bayonet in the US in the past 50 years I will give you reddit . Seriously , I will. It has to be a legitimate robbery , assault or whatever , not just “ had a bayonet while committing a crime ” . Find a single person threatened with stabbing or actually stabbed and you get reddit . I’m reddit . The entire “ assault weapon ” thing is honestly like saying heated seats in a car should be banned because it makes it easier to do this : http : reddit . No , what your post refers to is the concept of both a semi auto weapon and reddit . These are two things completely separate from the “ assault weapon ” reddit . This is the basis of all modern reddit . The glaring problem here is that if you ban all modern firearms you are taking them away from law abiding citizens as well. First of all they are “ arms in common use ” so it ’s not going to happen and second of all , to say that they should be banned is saying that “ if your wife is facing more than one rapist then she should n’t be able to defend reddit ” . The whole point of guns is that they create a level playing field. There was a magical time before guns , it was called the reddit . Back in this wonderful , crime free period there was a simple rule , the bigger guy did what he reddit . Sure people banded together and formed towns , nations and posses , but at the end of the day the muscle behind the sword decided reddit . Thankfully today a 110 lb woman can be the complete equal to a reddit . man. Is n’t technology great ? Now you want to take that away ? Centuries of progress and technology have finally made all men ( and women ) equal and you want to ruin it all because you ’re scared of a lump of metal ? Why do n’t you try being scared of bad people and appreciative of the fact that you have the means to stand up to even the worst of them thanks to modern civilization and society. Oh , by the way , if you ban modern firearms and do succeed in getting rid of the majority of them you still have a problem in the fact that they are reddit . reddit . Pretty much anyone can make them with enough motivation and time , ask reddit . http : reddit . Finally we get to the part about magazines and reddit . Do you know how long a magazine change ? I ’ll give you a hint , if you are practiced with a weapon it is reddit . This goes for revolvers too. https : //www.youtube.com/watch ? reddit . The other glaring hole in the magazine capacity argument is the fact that it has been known for centuries how to get around running out of ammo ; you bring a second reddit . Anyone with any sort of tactical training or knowledge reddit , anyone who has played Call of duty knows that # 1 , you do n’t reload under fire , you reload when you get a break and # 2 , if you run out of ammo under fire , you switch reddit . All of the deadly mass shooters used multiple reddit . The Aurora asshole ( I refuse to use their names since recognition is what they want ) used a 100+ rd magazine on his rifle , and it reddit . He did n’t bother changing mags , he just used his other reddit . San Bernardino involved rifles and reddit . Sandy hook had a rifle , shotgun in the car and multiple reddit . Virginia tech had multiple pistols , he also fired 170 shots from 17 reddit . No magazine limit will stop someone from bringing a second gun or dozens of reddit . What a magazine limit does is hurt the person carrying for reddit . When I carry ( which is anytime I ’m in a free state and not drinking ) I carry a loaded pistol and one reddit . With a 10 round limit I quite possibly would n’t have time to take down two attackers without a reload under reddit . If there are 3 of them there is n’t enough ammo in both magazines to ensure my safety. I ’m not planning on shooting someone when I take my gun with me , I take it just in case. I ’m not going to carry 3 guns and 12 magazines and I ’m not planning on multiple engagements ; I ’m planning on a single engagement as needed to reddit . The person who woke up that day and decided to kill as many people as possible can bring as much as he wants , with me it ’s what I can fit in my jeans reddit . As a result , this legislation overwhelmingly affects law abiding citizens more than it affects criminals , especially those who just ignore it anyway. Oh , and one last thing , my rifles have never been reddit . That ’s not what they 're for and not what the 2nd Amendment is about. Try taking a history OOV So here 's one last question , for you is it ignorance or lies ?

Why do these people want to kill you ? Why are you scared ? OOV How the fuck do I know ? I do n't know you. ANYONE with a gun is more dangerous to me than ANYONE without a OOV It 's absurd that you 're terrified of threats , yet I 'm supposed to see you walking around with a gun and feel at OOV Fuck no. (OOV_comment_begin) You 're also assuming tyranny can only come in the form of a looming government at large , and not a single person. For example : The sheriff in a tiny , rural town might be his own tyrant , carrying out his interpretation of law and justice as he sees fit. By the law , if he was to attempt to say , force his way into my home to rape my daughter ( and of course in this scenario he would not have a warrant , but even if he did , if rape was his aim , that 's not protected ) , I would be more than within my rights to shoot him dead in the OOV I ca n't do that without a gun , can I ? Tyranny is not just something that governments at large do. That woman who denied the homosexual marriage license ? She 's a OOV That was an illegitimate use of her power. Now that illegitimate use was not a forcible threat , so a forcible reaction in turn is not OOV But it 's just an example of how one government worker can be a OOV Surely you 're not about to argue that there 's never been a cop who stepped over the line and did something that , had they been a civilian , could have easily resulted in them being killed in self defense ? Look at the cop who recently stuck his gun down the throat of some civilian to show off. OOV guy is a OOV Had someone shot him while he was doing that , I 'm willing to bet that someone would 've been let off the OOV Even if they were n't , I 'd argue they OOV to have OOV .

(OOV_comment_begin) I 'm not sure what you 're driving at here. A sheriff busting in to rape someone is indistinguishable from anyone else busting in to rape OOV His office does n't protect him from the legal OOV So I 'm not sure how defining this as “ tyranny ” lends any further support to individual armament than the usual run-of-the-mill home invasion OOV I agree with OP , that it 's merely OOV Proving him/her wrong about what constitutes tyranny does n't seem to affect the topic of the OOV I 'm likewise perplexed by the reference to Kim OOV If your argument is that tyranny comes in many forms , and she 's your go-to example , then your argument is poor , because her tyranny was swiftly OOV OP 's point , or at least implication , is that our institutional mechanisms by their nature make the tyranny that gun advocates cite OOV Your example plays perfectly into that OOV OOV What exactly is the point of this rhetorical OOV ? What scenario are you imagining as the morally righteous counterpoint ? If you 're packing heat and a cop steps over the line , are you ( as you seem to imply ) less likely to shoot him because of his job ? And if so , how does having the gun help in the first place ? Anytime you cite self-defense as reason enough to own a gun , your argument , taken to its logical end , results in the same scenario : every citizen has their own gun , just on the off chance of a robber , rapist , or dirty OOV But can you genuinely imagine that scenario ? Consider the likelihood of one of those things. Now consider the likelihood that those guns get used for suicide , domestic abuse , second-degree murder of a wide variety of OOV Your advocacy boils down to a very simple statement , which you should be prepared to own if you really believe in it : OOV personal defense against a statistically unlikely event is worth many , many statistically guaranteed deaths of innocent OOV

I saw no such OOV Also they 're not just “ bad. ” They 're fucking OOV OOV It absolutely does .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Really ? Limiting the amount of OOV goods has something to do with Hamas ' military ? Even if that were the case , this still does n't put all the blame on Hamas , Israel still has a choice as to whether they want to collectively punish the Palestinians who did nothing wrong. Person A saying “ I would n't punish person B if person C would just cut out their shenanigans ” does n't mean that person A is OOV Yes , C is wrong , but that does n't justify A 's treatment of B. OOV A quick perusal of my comments will show that I 'm pretty adamantly against OOV

OOV How ? Is Israel being attacked by flour bombs ? OOV rockets ? vegetable guns ? Maybe Israel is limiting these in response to Hamas ' OOV , but the question is n't " what does Israel do " ( which is trivial ) but " what OOV Israel do " . Israel ought n't punish civilians .

OOV Good job completely missing the point. Yes , SOME muslims speak out against OOV MOST say nothing at all. OOV I do n't think that they need to , but THAT IS NOT THE OOV NO ONE CLAIMED THAT OOV ARE NOT OOV AGAINST OOV

The OOV of the group is not fighting against it , and the fear is that the OOV will continue to turn a blind eye to it since they have no OOV Yes , SOME of them are speaking against it , MANY of them are opposed to it , but the problem is that MOST are doing nothing and THAT is what is scaring people. They are afraid of the good people in the MIDDLE that make up the OOV will do nothing. Pretending that I said that there are n't muslims fighting against terrorism is nothing more than a strawman Ignoring the concerns that people have about inaction from the potentially sympathetic majority is dishonest at best. Flat out lying about the implementation of Sharia law in the muslim world is just that : Flat out OOV And if my tone in this comment seems a bit harsh compared to the previous ones , that is the reason. I am not partial to either side of the debate , and if I have any bias , it is in favor of allowing immigrants into the country. But for you to be this dishonest while OOV indignation at the supposed dishonesty of another is , to me , OOV You put words in my mouth and then lied flat out .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV So ... they have picked some Sharia laws to incorporate into their legal system ? Most of the laws that are used are civil , not criminal law. That means it governs things like marriage , divorce , inheritance , etc. Some of the worse countries implement criminal punishments as well , but no country implements all of Sharia law. The closest are Iran and Saudi Arabia , but even they do n't implement it OOV OOV You 're seriously going to suggest that no one has claimed that Muslims do n't fight or speak out against terrorism ? Here is an article from a rightwing site with language which sounds very familiar to what you were OOV [ Why wo n't Muslims OOV Islamic Terror ? ] ( http : OOV ) OOV Conservatives in this country have been spreading bullshit like this since 9/11 despite it being repeatedly contradicted with evidence of Muslims speaking out. On top of that we 've got Presidential candidates calling for an unconstitutional ban on Muslims entering the country. Another who just thinks we need more police to patrol " Muslim Neighborhoods " . Another who compares them to rabid OOV It is incredibly ignorant to claim that none of the anti-Muslim rhetoric is bigoted in nature. OOV This is just the same unsupported bullshit as before. (OOV_comment_begin) OOV I have no issue with that. But this comes up every single time this debate does , and the answer is always the same : if that 's where you think the issue is , where is the suspicion towards infertile cis women ? They make up something like 10-15 % of the female population ! But no one ever freaks out about dating an infertile cis woman , they freak out about the - fifty or so times less common - trans people. OOV If that is genuinely true , it OOV But 99 % of the time , that 's OOV OOV No , because the male/female distinction is a material difference. Trans OOV woman is not , provided they are otherwise physically OOV OOV In this instance ? Because I 'm right. I 've explained the reasoning literally like a hundred times in this OOV OOV The " why is it the responsibility of cis heterosexual men " implied some sort of special OOV I was responding to that. OOV Because when I 've debated it - and I have done so more times than I 'd wager you 've even considered the question - it has without exception always come down to " because she 's still a man in some sense " . Now , I 'm not gon na say my anecdotal sample is a 100 % sure thing. But which do you think is more likely : * Not wanting to date a trans person is culturally trained OOV There 's a sharp difference in willingness to date trans people between OOV ( a majority , around 65 % a poll I ran over on OOV ) and OOV ( essentially none ) people. There 's a clear difference between public behavior ( where it 's common to express revulsion ) and private ( where trans porn is incredibly popular ) . And when debated , it virtually always comes back to rejection of a trans persons ' OOV Or : * Not wanting to date trans people is innate , despite there being no evolutionary or biological reason for it given that a modern trans person has been possible for less than a century. OOV Yes. But with two caveats : one , I 'd ask you to take a second , examine OOV you think that attraction would vanish , and in the very likely event you find lurking OOV , to deal with it. And two , that the first eight words are virtually certain to be false , because statistically you 're gon na pass a trans woman every few days on the street and one of those women , sometime , was probably attractive enough to catch your OOV I 've gotten OOV OOV OOV I think you 're giving these folks OOV too much credit .

Fail to mention the police or OOV Oh and the part where you say you are all these things , and then shit on your friends for being “ rad leftists ” , and call them “ OOV ” for arguing with you , and virtue signaling to moderates and right-wingers for internet points , by saying that you are better than they are because you are n't a “ radical leftist ” and “ authoritarian ” like they are. lol It 's absurd .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV OOV I 've got an OOV Most people do. OOV Explain what you mean by that. OOV What does this have to do with anything ? If you want my specific take on the police add military , I 'm actually really bothered by the fact that in 2017 police brutality against minorities is still a significant problem and while I believe in a small standing military I believe that war is only ever justified as a home defense act and beyond acts of home defense is barbaric OOV OOV I would n't call saying that “ I love them ” but “ I 'm not impressed with how they treated the issue of the flag ” shitting on my friends but OOV Your whole attitude in this exchange is indicative of the entire problem OP is describing : the tendency to treat dissent as a personal failing of the OOV while simultaneously feeling viciously attacked by the fact that it OOV OOV If that 's how you want to see it. OOV OOV This is funny OOV I 'm no friend to OOV They would n't appreciate my opinion on their barbaric faith or their callous economic policies , simultaneously trying to legislate religious morality while empowering exploitative capitalist greed and cutting the poor and hungry OOV I can police the left 's OOV behavior from within without OOV myself that the left is even remotely as bad as the right OOV But what should I OOV Your tendency to attack strawman paints a bleak picture of your ability to consider that people may not be caricatures of a political position but in all likelihood hold nuanced views on things .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Class privilege is a huge OOV All the other privileges intersect heavily with it. If you support “ regulated capitalism ” you still support OOV If you support OOV , you may as well also support racism , sexism , OOV , because they intersect completely with class. OOV Your failure to mention either in your diatribe of , “ Look how progressive I am ! ” is telling to me. I mean , I read your comment history to see what your politics OOV That 's why I called you a OOV OOV You are n't a OOV Your beliefs in this case , match the status OOV Your “ radical leftist friends ” are n't authorities , and they have no power over you besides the ability to harm your fragile OOV Same goes for all the other moderates and right-wingers who believe someone telling them they are wrong is indicative of some kind of systemic problem. OOV LOL that is you ! I do n't feel attacked in the OOV Literally this whole idea exists because you and others feel like you are being victimized for being told you are wrong , or that your opinion is OOV Your first comment that I responded to was me basically telling you and others are not victims of OOV Holy cow what a lack of self OOV OOV That 's not how I see it , that 's how it is. OOV I 'm not your OOV You are literally doing exactly as I say , virtue signaling to internet strangers for internet points. And your economic beliefs fall well within OOV , so you can chill .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Well first of all , the Berkeley College Republicans did n't invite Milo to debate , they invited him to OOV Secondly , letting someone just have their platform is n't just tolerance to a certain point of view , it 's submission to it. Peaceful protest is a method of speech that allows those without platforms to challenge those with OOV If you are committed to free speech then you should be applauding the 1,500 students who used their first amendment rights to peacefully let their voices be OOV OOV Read my sentence again. What I am saying is that if I were a member of an academic board at an institution and my colleagues and I wanted a conservative speaker , I would n't let Milo speak because Milo 's history of harassment and " troll " personality makes him a detriment to OOV I would have no problem with inviting other OOV OOV like Richard Spencer and bullies like Milo have no place in OOV OOV What are you talking about ? Milo has consistently framed himself as a representative of the OOV OOV Do n't get me wrong. I think there is a problem at college campuses with people trying to silence conservative OOV However , I do n't believe Milo is a victim of that OOV Milo gets protested everywhere he goes because he has made it his personal mission to piss off , bully , and harass everyone with views that are to the left of his own. Condoleezza Rice has been protested before , but she does n't get protested everytime she visits an academic OOV I think it 's fair to say that Milo brings it on himself .

(OOV_comment_begin) What does n't belong in academia is resisting the free exchange of ideas. It 's morally wrong , and it never works for the people doing the OOV People latch on to censorship when they feel their beliefs ca n't win in the free marketplace of ideas. There 's a good reason nobody bothers trying to silence the left-wing equivalents of Milo and Richard Spencer .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Colleges have limited platforms and space for public speech. Why does that platform belong to people who express fringe theories with no academic support and people who bully and harass the student body over artists , scientists , innovators , professors , experts , policymakers , CEOs , politicians , religious leaders , respected journalists , and Nobel prize winners ? Why should OOV and internet trolls be the new standard of academia ? What do they offer that 's being left out ? OOV Why should a school provide a platform to all ideas ? Should MIT lend it 's platform to a scholar of Victorian Literature ? It 's not a useful subject for the students at MIT unless the professor can coordinate it into the STEM experience in some way. Should our colleges be giving platforms to creationists even though their ideas have already been proven to be unquestionably false ? Should colleges be giving speaking platforms to serial killers and cult leaders ? Some ideas simply are n't OOV We do n't have to constantly discuss whether or not the earth is OOV We as a society have moved past that point , and that 's OOV One can still be a successful astrophysicist without ever having to debate a OOV OOV Where are the left wing Nazi sympathizers being invited to college campuses ? I 'm not seeing them .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV I hear this from leftists all the time , yet when I spend hours every day among conservatives on the net and IRL I fail to see it. OOV I have not heard about this and a quick search came up empty , but if you give me a link I 'll read it. OOV Absolutely , but that 's not OOV in the OOV The military refuses to hire tons of people for different reasons which is not discrimination , since serving in the military is OOV a OOV People with lots of different mental disorders are turned away , for example people with severe depression , but saying that it 's " OOV discrimination " would be OOV It 's freakin ' common sense that people who present a higher risk than others are not allowed to OOV Trans people are in this category , it is a known fact that they are prone to suicide and depression , they are a risk to their peers in the OOV If you think Trump just cooked up this idea because he hates trans people you 're just being OOV OOV I do n't think anyone should be fired for this specific reason but as far as I know what has been going on for decades now is that many employers hired LGBT people fulfilling quotas and OOV people got fired for it. ( The first example that comes to mind is the BBC and I know that 's in the UK , but it happened in the US as well. ) People who did n't raise their voice then should keep their mouths shut now , if what you say is true at all. OOV What the actual fuck now , did we already forget that Obama and Hillary were the biggest pals of middle eastern oil OOV ? Hillary got half her campaign funding from Saudi Arabia - Trump went there and told them directly to cut out the terrorist OOV Also , Trump OOV the travel ban for the six muslim countries , is n't it more than a little bit disingenuous to call him a muslim supporter after calling him an OOV for months ? He addressed the LGBT community saying he will protect them from islamic terrorism , which he 's actively working on , for God 's sake .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV of course you have n't because you no doubt read nothing but insane right wing blogs all day. https : OOV OOV It is absolutely discriminatory and bigoted to pass a blanket ban on ALL OOV , regardless of their fitness to OOV What Trump called for was a ban on ANY OOV , not OOV who have depression or are prone to depression , not just OOV who are in transition or have high medical costs , but ALL OOV There are numerous examples of OOV who have served their country admirably , and even those who have been awarded high honors for doing so. The fact that Trump is banning these people OOV BECAUSE they are trans is bigotry plain and simple OOV Was I talking about Hillary and Obama ? No. The point at issue is whether Trump has expressed support for dictators who murder gay people , and the fact is : he OOV You 're cowardly changing the subject here because I 'm right and you know it .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Says the guy linking to the NYT , a former newspaper : ) So let me get this straight , the question is " does Title VII cover sexual orientation ? " , and the OOV 's answer is it does n't , because , well , it OOV The text is clear and sexual orientation ai n't in it. How exactly is this some nefarious scheme against gays again ? Also , the guy in the actual court case was n't fired because he 's gay , he was fired because a customer complained about his behavior to his OOV I know it does n't seem too much of a difference for those who want to lie that he was fired for being gay , but it 's a huge difference for anyone who cares about the truth. OOV Yeah , just like it 's discriminatory for the military to pass a blanket ban on ALL OOV , OOV , and so on. Your point being ? What you do n't seem to understand , or rather , what you want to lie about , is that trans people are not banned from the military for the sole fact that their genders do n't match the sex they were born with. Nobody gives a curly fuck about that , including OOV OOV do n't OOV They are banned because 1. statistically speaking they pose a higher risk than others as they are prone to mental problems which is an absolute no-no in the military ; 2. the LGBT activists ( pretending to represent trans soldiers who never asked for it ) keep on demanding stuff the military does n't want to pay for , quite OOV Maybe , just maybe , if the LGBT activists stopped demanding insane bullshit like sex change operations paid by the taxpayer , the military would n't view trans people as a OOV Maybe you guys have overplayed your hand and normal people are fed up with your OOV And let me make this abundantly clear as I know you will have a sudden urge to misrepresent what I 've just said : our problem is OOV with trans people , it 's with OOV activists who stir shit up constantly in the name of others. In this case the conclusion is that OOV activists have fucked trans people over because they spewed so much bullshit the military got annoyed and solved the problem OOV OOV You do realize , right , that nobody can tell if anyone else is trans until they self-report it , so for all intents and purposes every single employee of the US military can be trans as long as they do n't make a fuss about it ... ? This move was n't designed to hurt trans people whose OOV dream is to be a soldier ( like , 3 people in the US ) , it was designed to curb the OOV OOV OOV Yeah , and banning triple amputees OOV BECAUSE they 're triple amputees is bigotry plain and simple. I ca n't decide if I should admire your pure hatred for something you do n't understand and thus need to lie about constantly to justify your hatred of it , or be afraid that if this shit spreads any further your kind will begin murdering innocents and start a fuckin ' civil war. You 're a menace to civilized society. OOV It 's hilarious that when your side does something it 's perfectly fine but when the other side does the exact same thing it 's OOV OOV much ? Also , just to make it clear , what your side did was waaaay worse , you armed ISIS and destabilized Libya and Syria , Trump just wants to clean up this OOV OOV I doubt he ever expressed support for islamic dictators considering YOU GUYS bashed him for being OOV ever since he started his presidential campaign.

Also , please explain Linda OOV to me , or more specifically how an insane OOV OOV wannabe terrorist OOV can be a de facto spokeswoman for the democratic party in the US ? You accuse Trump of being too friendly to islam when he ordered the infamous “ muslim ban ” while his opposition is in part lead by radical OOV ? Mind blown .

(OOV_comment_begin) I have had many encounters with CPS ( not for me , regarding others ) and I am thoroughly and completely OOV Their job is to protect children yet I have never seen them actually do that. Working in a hospital and being married to a nurse , I have had much contact with patients of all OOV The lack of oversight in this area OOV me. Here is one example. I knew many NICU nurses who talked on a regular basis of babies who were not only born early as a result of cocaine or other drug use , but actually went through withdrawals from OOV They were so sensitive that if a nurse dropped a pen , the baby would wake up screaming and it would take hours to get them back down. On more than one occasion , the nurses caught the parents still snorting WHILE AT THE OOV In all cases , this was documented ad nauseum and nothing was ever done. There were also many parents who 's baby had low birth weight due to marijuana and they would show up to the hospital OOV of OOV More recently , I have met many home health nurses who have spoke of parents addicted to pain medications who would basically knock themselves out and leave the baby to scream from sitting in their own excrement for hours. I have heard of rat infested homes , drug abuse , child abuse ( actually slapping an infant ) ... even with documentation , the kids remain with their terrible parents. With all this in mind , I firmly believe the CPS is a waste of resources. Of course , this is all from anecdotal experience so maybe others have had better OOV All of my experience has been from various parts of Texas , if that matters. EDIT : Wow ! Thanks for all of the responses ! I should have been more clear in my view ... (OOV_comment_begin) OOV By saying that those people show overwhelmingly the sings of mental disease or otherwise similar problem does in no way put blame on those people. On the contrary mental disease is horrible thing that strikes more or less randomly based on your genetics and random factors that are far beyond your control. I can not place blame on people , because it 's not their OOV The fact that you think I do , says something about how you think about the mental health issue ? You really think it 's the people 's fault for how they feel ? I 'm not saying that you can not ever think rationally and want to kill yourself. What I 'm saying that on average more than 90 % of cases where people want to kill themselves. The people show a signs of mental OOV or some other similarly serious problem .

(OOV_comment_begin) What ? Sorry , let me quote you again : OOV How is that not putting the [ blame ] ( https : OOV ? OOV & OOV & OOV & OOV & OOV ) on the individual for how they feel ? You 're saying it 's due to their biology , you 're saying 90 % of cases people are not thinking rationally when wanting to kill themselves. You 're saying these 90 % are mentally ill and so are n't capable of making their own decisions - you 're placing the blame of this unwanted mental state solely on the individual - that it occurs solely in the head , as if there are no other factors not least their environment. I do n't know why you 're trying to twist it and make out I 'm condemning a demographic , all I can assume from that is that you 're trying to upend me as opposed to establish truth. And where you got the 90 % figure from , or how you even go about defining mentally ill. Some governments will call all dissidents mentally ill , so maybe you 're going by a similar OOV I 've had conversations with plenty of depressed people and also had many depressed , OOV friends over the years and know that a large part of their “ illness ” is due to external factors , and their depressive response was something you 'd expect from a rational , sane and emphatic person. Conversely I 've known a few manipulative OOV and these are the ones who appear to be most functioning and normal in society , as well as the most deluded when confronted with objective truth. But by your logic , neither of these demographics are affected by their surroundings , and the depression or whatever else you want to define as mental illness is an isolated phenomenon that has nothing to do with how they 're treated , or how they treat others in day to day life. OOV What about soldiers fighting a war ? Are they mentally ill for wanting to kill people ? Oh context has changed , it 's ok in this case , in fact hail them as heroes ! See how the state defines what 's ill and what 's not ? Finally if you live 30 - 40 years of suffering , how is it not sane or rational to assume that the next 30 - 40 will either be the same or worse , so make the decision to end it early ? If the film sucks , is n't it rational to walk out halfway through ? If you 're in a casino and you lose half your money on fixed odds , are you seriously going to stay and gamble the rest , knowing the game wo n't change and you 're on a losing ship ? But we live in a society that says “ walking out = irrational , insane , mentally ill ” , which is also the flawed stance you 've taken here .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Okay , you OOV When I 'm saying mentally ill. I do n't mean hardcore crazy. Nor I mean the hardcore significant life altering problems such as bipolar , or schizophrenia or OOV Even those if people get these ones , the chances of them trying to OOV suicides goes up OOV I mean everything from anxiety , depression or even extremely heightened mood swings due to their OOV OOV These are extremely loaded words. And pretty much OOV the whole point about the problematic and how people OOV A person might be perfectly rational in 90 % of their life. But when it comes to “ insert one area of life ( social interactions , dealing with stress , long term planning , dealing with insults , etc ... ) ” they can absolutely become incapable to make decisions in a healthy and productive OOV Decisions which are flawed and illogical , often destructive and counter OOV Hell a “ normal ” person without any dominant mental health issues , starts to have problems with reasoning , or anger , or decision making in heightened emotional states. OOV Again , you OOV I don't. People in 99 % do n't have a control over their OOV Especially concerning mental health. It is absolutely OOV You wo n't choose your genetics , you wo n't choose the hardship in your life that trigger various negative reactions in your OOV You can not choose how you feel towards something. But OOV This is absolutely OOV Let 's say I blame every single person. Nothing changes one bit. It 's still an issue. This is just a red herring from you , trying to attack completely irrelevant part of OOV OOV Lol , you are doing the twisting of the words. I repeatedly state I do n't place blame on the OOV I do n't even place blame on the government or the doctors for that matter. World is n't so easy that we can find the culprit and place the entirety of blame on them. No , it 's just something that happens in a world that you or others have very little control over. OOV Well OOV It is often said that Madness is rational response of a brain to impossible situation. Brain protects itself in various ways. And it indeed has a distinct logic in OOV However the fact that it has a distinct logic to minimize OOV And to help the brain to cope with real world in various ways does not mean the person has a normal and rational OOV In fact they often go in opposite OOV In case there is a OOV about the meaning of mental OOV [ This ] ( https : OOV ) is what I mean. As per the OOV classifications of the psychiatric society. OOV Wait what ? No. The entire premise of my arguments hangs on how the environment affects the person. And I have no idea where you got that depression causes you to be OOV or OOV What ? OOV What are you talking about ? We are talking about the rational / irrational OOV Which is defined as any form of behaviour that goes against a normal response to situation or any behaviour that does n't follow the normal course of action expected of a situation and usually for no specific or reasonable cause or reason. By normal we mean average for that group of people. You know , as per the psychiatric OOV What I 'm saying is that people showing signs of this behaviour should n't be turned blind eye to , or even actively helped or encouraged to end their lives. OOV You know what ? I entirely agree with you. Hell in this case I do n't even really care about their rationality after that long time of OOV Maybe the people have a mental disorder , but the treatment is much worse for them. Or the treatment does n't work makes things worse. HOWEVER that is not the average person who wants to commit OOV In fact you paint a very small minority of people for who it OOV Does n't mean it 's not worth OOV I would absolutely be in support of a way that would allow people to die with OOV After an psychiatric evaluation and at least an attempt to treat or otherwise undress the underlying problem. If there is OOV Rather than hanging themselves in closet for their family to find them. But these cases are dwarfed by much bigger part of the population. Where some 90 % + of people who try to commit suicide have a treatable mental disorder .

(OOV_comment_begin) You do what 's best for the OOV If there 's no father figure in his life , then so be it. But if you 've been raising a kid for 10 years and expect to skip town to punish your wife 's infidelity from 10 years ago , that 's fucked up. The kid would lose his father : figuratively , literally , and OOV OOV parents OOV toss their children aside or use them against the other parent like pawns in a chess game , but they are human OOV I would rather the law secure the rights and needs of the child , holding it at a higher priority than the surrogate father 's luxury bucks .

(OOV_comment_begin) It 's not fucked up at all. Again , if this was a dog , or no child involved , someone leaving would be expected and in many states infidelity equals no OOV However , you 're putting this 10 year label on it. What if it 's six months ? Also , what if I do n't see myself as this kids father ? Again and again your argument is simply “ But think of the kids. ” You literally have nothing else. You are 100 % saying it 's okay to lie and cheat and wrong a person to fuck HIM out of his “ luxury ” OOV As stated by another OOV the rates of suicide , depression , anxiety , mental anguish , bankruptcy etc. all skyrocket for men paying for their own kids. Now imagine that person is paying for a kid that 's not even OOV I used the example of kids with no dads to show that kids can be raised in single parent homes OOV When there 's no chance of money you do n't care af do n't have a solution. Literally you said “ So be it ” but if there 's some poor OOV you can weasel money out of , well fuck him , that kid needs cash ! ! ! You 're ridiculous , your argument is bad , and you should feel bad .

(OOV_comment_begin) Dogs are not children. Kids tend to live a bit longer and ca n't subsist on OOV If it 's only been 6 months because mom and fake dad conceived after a one night stand , then I have a hard time picturing a woman who would doggedly pursue the man with legal action for child support. That kind of woman does n't really exist in my world. It sounds like a OOV I do n't believe it happens at the rate people seem to fear it happens at. It 's an OOV problem that taps deeply into male OOV If infidelity were discovered immediately , the fake dad would probably get off the hook , and the real dad would get hit with child support. This is the normal way things work. The only time a fake dad would be hit with payments is if he had already been acting as a real dad for some time. I threw out the number 10 years. Long before even that , the kid has developed an emotional connection , the parent has been making good on providing , and it 's in the kid 's best interest that this OOV Here 's what IS a problem : kids growing up without the presence of parental OOV Single parent , single income situations lead to moms and dads at work all day instead of caring , teaching , and OOV Money wo n't fix everything but it OOV The societal good far outweighs the negative of forcing the fake dad to continue OOV Note : I use “ fake dad ” somewhat OOV The OOV father is still a father if he 's been acting that way. He 's a real father. Unless you think adoptive parents are somehow OOV or should be ridiculed as OOV , then I fail to see the difference .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV I disagree that an ideal free market , implemented using OOV humans , will lead to an ideal OOV We are seeing more and more de-facto monopolies , market failures which are not addressed by government due to [ regulatory capture ] ( https : OOV ) , a concentration of wealth at the top ( and OOV of work , which may be cheap but implies people are treated as commodities ) , partial transition from democracy to oligarchy ( [ Citizens United ] ( https : OOV ) ) , etc. I argue that if you account for the failures of people - both as individuals and groups , the a stronger governmental stewardship , and greater societal mutual support , as in the theoretical ideal of the social democracy , will lead to a better outcome .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV This logic makes no sense to me. If we are operating on the idea that individuals and groups are prone to failure , then how can it possibly be the best course of action to concentrate power ... with a group of those individuals ? Not just any group either. A group with power that can be bought and corrupted .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Some concentration of power is OOV But in a functioning democracy , there is far greater transparency and oversight over political power than there is over private OOV The Koch brothers have zero accountability , no real oversight , and no way of replacing them. Politicians get replaced every decade or so ( at least in functioning democracies , which excludes the US given its extreme OOV and Citizens United ) . There are requirements of transparency , and multiple layers of oversight , including but not limited to , the people replacing them. And in quite a few countries a lot of the politicians are actually out to do well. Because in many countries politicians are not a subgroup of OOV If corporations were people , they would be classified as sociopaths - not caring about anything except OOV Corporations do not need to be bought or corrupted , because they are worst-case by design. (OOV_comment_begin) OOV Okay I 'm going to say that qualifies as being terrible and OOV It does n't stop being terrible and immoral because it 's common or because it 's part of OOV That one single person in this exceedingly wealthy society is anywhere near to poverty is immoral and OOV OOV Yes. Workers are exploited in a capitalist economy. There is no way around it. Your boss steals the value of your labour in the form of profit and returns to you nothing but the opportunity to make them more profit .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV My friend spent over OOV dollars on cocaine in a relatively short time and is now living in a single bedroom apartment working a minimum wage job after getting out of OOV Is it immoral and terrible that he now has to face the consequences of his actions ? My sister bought a new car a while back , she has asked me for loans every month to help with her kids because she ca n't keep up with the payments on her OOV Should mindless spending and no budgeting result in no negative things happening to you ? Should we get everything we want without effort ? Should society enable such behaviors ? OOV Existence is OOV That is what existence means for a being living on planet earth. There is no being in existence that lives for free , apart from some humans who have benefited enough from this “ capitalist economy ” to support their children in such a way and some dictators , but even they need to work somewhat for their OOV No living being on earth can sit down and do nothing at all and OOV We need food , we need shelter , we need people. Is the hospital “ exploiting ” me when I go there for life saving surgery ? They are technically torturing me , even if it means my survival and requires my OOV Could you explain the fundamental difference between this example and your capitalism example ? OOV Except for a wage that you agree to beforehand and have the ability to negotiate to get a larger share of the profits you provide to them. Tell me , if you created a company ( perhaps its better to say factory for the OOV out there ) and somebody came up to you and offered to work at your factory but they kept all the profits from their OOV Are they not now exploiting you ? You built this place , you laid the OOV This is your house , why should they benefit from your work and you get nothing in return ? To offer another example a local hairdresser rents out booths ( “ chairs ” ) to other OOV Should she give them away to avoid “ exploiting ” the people who willingly pay her ? Should she just let them set up shop in her house without compensating her ? Is she not now the one being exploited ? Capitalism works because it is the most fair system we have created in a fundamentally unfair OOV Much like democracy. And it works because just like my employer uses me , I use them. Everybody benefits from the arrangement , I could n't provide the worth I do for them on my own and they could n't provide the worth I do without me. Everybody OOV The universe is fundamentally OOV children are born every day with less than a year to live , people get horrible painful diseases , people get hurt every day by others and nature. To paint the negatives of existence itself as a property of capitalism is pathetic , and you people need to stop doing it .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Did he not serve his time in jail ? What more consequences should he face ? Now I 'm not saying that we should give this person 100k , but there should be assistance to provide for all basic necessities so he should never be OOV A life of poverty is a cruel and unjust punishment for any crime. OOV We should have all our basic needs OOV She should n't starve because she made a bad decision. Our society is not some primal wasteland , we have to expect more of ourselves than the law of the OOV If she ca n't pay her debts then she wo n't get more credit and wo n't be able to OOV herself OOV She may not qualify for a home loan or a future car loan or a credit card. But she should never want for a safe place to sleep , food to eat , or essential OOV OOV It need not be. We can be better. OOV We are nearing a time where no humans will need to work. Automation will replace all human OOV But until we get there we live in a time where no one should perform a job that does n't fulfill them. There is no need for this. Beyond that we should not live in a society driven by profit OOV If the workers , rather than a lazy capitalist at the top , owned their work places it would be immeasurably less OOV OOV Soon we will. Until then we should transition to a more socialist economic model to reduce exploitation and improve quality of life. OOV In America yes the hospital is exploiting you by charging you unnecessarily massive fees and deriving profit from your essential medical treatment. No profit should ever be extracted from anything , but most especially essential services. If you were treated in a non-profit hospital in a country where the cost is subsidized by society at large there would be no exploitation there. You can argue 'they are technically torturing you ' but you provided informed consent so it is not unethical , in this society where the cost is subsidized and the hospital is OOV In America you do not have this OOV OOV In OOV employee negotiations the employer holds all the power. You will die without a job , there is a small number of possible employers , and you are not negotiating OOV You are negotiating against every other prospective OOV This is why collective bargaining is essential , the workers sit together rather than against one another. OOV No. They are asking for a fair wage , that is to say they are asking to be paid the value they OOV The mindset that profit is acceptable makes this hard to understand , I 'll OOV OOV They are performing the work. You are not. They are producing the value. You are operating a building that allows them to do so. It is reasonable for your costs to be covered from the value of the labour , that is n't OOV It 's reasonable for a wage equal to that of your median labourer to be paid to you , that is n't OOV But when value is taken from the worker and given to the owner that is OOV An owner is not more OOV than a OOV Most of the time they 're worth far less to the company , they do n't add any value. OOV First , again , having her cost covered and paying a modest living wage is OOV But often the owner will extract nearly 50 % from the stylists , clearly that is OOV No one deserves to accumulate wealth off of the labour of another. However , and mind you , if she owns the salon she is under no obligation to bring in other OOV If she wanted to she could do the work herself in which case she would be entitled to keep the entirety of the product of her own OOV No one forces her to hire stylists , she will not starve if she does n't hire stylists , the relationship is not the same. Business owners hold all the power in these OOV OOV Capitalism is less fair than social democracy , less fair than socialism , less fair than OOV It is not the most OOV Capitalism is the system that we have in place for the same reason the OOV was in place before it. It 's the system chosen by the people who already had the power , and it has reinforced their power well enough that we have n't been able to change it yet. Capitalism is inherently OOV The profit motive is inherently OOV Explain to me how it is more fair that one man sits in a 20 million $ penthouse selling his drug for $ 500 a dose when it costs him 1.66 to OOV Explain to me how it is more fair that millions go into poverty before dying , or billions already in poverty are denied essential life saving medicine so that one man can be a OOV Explain to me how that is more fair than having all of those people be healthy , have the medicine they need , have the food they need , and have a modest home that suits all their needs. OOV I do n't benefit from my employer stealing profit from my OOV I do n't have the option to choose an employer that does n't steal profit from my labour , other than death. The relationship is inherently coercive and it does me no good. OOV And every day millions of people work to fix all of those conditions such that suffering can be OOV They do n't just accept it and say there 's nothing that can be done. Capitalism causes unique suffering that the alternatives to it do not. We should work to eliminate that unique suffering to create a better world .

(OOV_comment_begin) We have to take at face value that you are n't OOV Prove to me that you are n't trans .

(OOV_comment_begin) That 's his sex , not his gender OOV Trans men can get their gender marker changed and get OOV .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV ; dr OOV and imperialism made most forms of appropriating western culture more accurately labeled as OOV ( Like OOV , adaptation or marginalization from the middle school civics textbook ) . Not to mention that OP using the phrase “ Westerners ” makes this view blatantly wrong because First Nations people and Mexicans are just as “ western ” as any other OOV , and cultural appropriation claims from them are always considered valid from people that take appropriation OOV In addition to that , I ’m glad OP used Christmas as an example ’cause it goes quite well in favor of an explanation that I like to OOV The centuries of colonization the West engaged in left a lasting mark on the world. These other cultures did n’t necessarily “ appropriate ” western practices , as much as they were forced to assimilate or be imprisoned or OOV One way those demands affect the world now is that when non Christians who celebrate are asked why , responses range from “ my family has always done this ” to “ is this how you celebrate Christmas ? ? ? ? I ’m just eating food with my family now that everyone is off work ... ” In reality , Christians worked very hard to appropriate pagan practices that had nothing to do with Christianity ( ie the Easter bunny , and celebrating the birth of Christ in the dead of winter ) to appeal to the most people and get OOV Barring that they murdered people into OOV Centuries of “ Do as we say , AND as we do OR we ’re burning this town to the ground. ” weakens the West ’s argument for being slighted by other ’s doing things traditionally OOV If more modern reasoning would be better , and using just America as an example is okay , then I would like you to consider the media ’s portrayal of OOV OOV outrage every Christmas rolls around. Schools choosing to put on “ holiday event ” instead of Christmas events or companies choosing to say “ happy holidays ” or be nondescript about it at all , they receive negative press or coverage from outlets reporting the outcry against the “ War on Christmas ” . I very intentionally qualified that example with “ media portrayal ” cause I ’m a Christian and these things do n’t matter to me at all , and I ’ve talked to my conservative Christian friends and they also believe that it ’s complete nonsense but I also acknowledge the bias there , in that I would n’t be friends with the kind of people that work themselves into a OOV over that , but media coverage uniformly reports that this is a thing that conservatives are upset about. So a person that is n’t Christian would be more inclined to just say merry christmas , or bless you after you sneeze , or “ I went home for Easter ” rather than deal with any blowback they may perceive that they will receive or because it ’s just straight up second nature because of how ubiquitous and dominant these western practices are. Another conversation people have is against white people appropriating black hair OOV Ignoring the fact that black people can be born with blonde hair , straight hair , etc. irrespective of OOV , there were laws against black women wearing their hair naturally , requiring them to be covered , things of that nature , 100 or so years ago , it is currently statistically worse to wear natural hair if you are trying to be employed , and there are black children right now being asked to leave school or get suspended for wearing their natural hair too long , or in braids or OOV For this reason black people wearing western hairstyles would not be seen as appropriation but , at worst , assimilation and at best absolutely nothing at all. When we look at the reverse it gets to the heart of why I think appropriation is a problem. Its the core reason as to why you do n’t hear many Germans or German Americans up in arms about people celebrating Oktoberfest or why Mexicans on Mexico could give not give less of a shit about us eating candy skulls on Day of the OOV Americans ( or American Imperialism , the American Power Structure , Deep Government , Mass Media , whatever I need to say to imply this is the “ they ” that ’s using an invisible hand to define how Americans view things and then disperse that information ) will criticize these minority groups for their hair , their accents , or say they have n’t tried or done enough to be real americans , and elect a president that wants to build a wall between them and their home , and then turn around and see Americans ( TM ) wearing dreads , drinking loaded OOV , and painting skulls on their face for Instagram and tumblr , and praise them for being worldly , or trendy or OOV The group that these cultural traditions feel pain. Its akin to you making food for yourself , sharing it with someone and then them they look you straight in the eye and tell you “ Your cooking is SHIT ” while continuing to scarf down that OOV To watch others participate in your heritage but fear joining in because it may then call into question how well you ’ve ACTUALLY assimilated or people will take it as an invitation to make “ jokes ” or call themselves “ honorary OOV OOV ” , its enough to make people salty enough to say

“ OOV OOV OOV OOV ” when in any other context , they may have loved to have someone help them tie on their OOV or try some of that sweet , sweet , soup OOV while people still living in the homeland do n’t understand what the problem is and love the tourist devour the culture ( and spending tons of money ) and why westerners do n’t really feel aggressive watching others ... Play rugby or watch the Indiana 500 or whatever. This took me forever to type out. I am OOV Remember me as I was. A dank meme .

(OOV_comment_begin) Calling Native Americans “ Westerners ” ( at least , the OOV ones ) is extremely ridiculous , and could only come about through misunderstanding the term OOV It ’s not about where you are globally ( that does n’t even make sense , as Earth has no absolute East or West ) but rather , about where you belong on a closely related set of OOV If something can be traced back to Greece , or a culture descended from the Greeks , it ’s OOV It is obvious , then , how impossible it is for American Indians to have been Western civilizations .

(OOV_comment_begin) I agree that if we define Western in the very specific , useless , and agenda driven way you ’ve defined it , then First Nationals would n’t be considered OOV I also agree that since the Earth is basically a sphere , it has no true east or OOV However I have no reason to accept your definition of western over mine , so First Nationals are OOV And though the Earth is basically a sphere , maps are flat , and are clearly split in OOV centered maps East and OOV In addition to that , since there is a place labeled “ The Middle East ” , we can assume that there are generally accepted East and West OOV If we consider America a western country then we got ta include mexico , and that includes their indigenous people , and if we include Mexico ’s indigenous people then we got ta include First Nations people too. Therefore First Nationals are Westerners .

(OOV_comment_begin) The purpose of marriage is to unite and establish a family unit and to have new children , OOV is n’t an established family unit and adoption does n’t really add more citizens it only shuffles about the current OOV The government should not recognize and afford benefits to homosexuals on two OOV Firstly they have not been denied anything so the 14th amendment is irrelevant and secondly because they can not have more children and thus allowing tax benefits onto them as they will not have new children to prop up the economy and will not benefit the society with more children. That is also why I support removing benefits for those who do n’t have above replacement rates amount of children or are not planning on such things , the benefits of the marriage should only be upon those who have or had wanted to but were rendered incapable due to exterior means. Yes , people do n’t vote on ideas they vote on people we shifted a long time ago from that friend .

(OOV_comment_begin) There is zero advantage to having tattoos done as a child rather than as an OOV There are two strong disadvantages to doing the tattooing super early : tattoos are a symbol of self-expression in our culture , and the design will become distorted as the child OOV Most tattooing is not mutilation , but it is illegal to tattoo a child in certain states and legal in others. In contrast , people who want to be circumcised do n't want fancy OOV So there is no disadvantage to doing it early other than the possibility that your child might end up not wanting to be OOV And there are strong advantages to doing it early : less risk and better OOV The advantage of waiting to see if the child actually wants to be circumcised may outweigh these advantages of doing it early , depending on the percent chance your child will actually want to be OOV Either way it is not OOV It is an equally valid penis OOV The word " mutilation " is a value judgment that implies one configuration is worse than the other. (OOV_comment_begin) We are often told today that Islam is incomparable with democracy ; this is the other side of the early 20th century coin which reads " Jews are evil " . That bigotry led to one of the greatest crimes in history. We should be very sure that our new bigotry on OOV 's reverse face does not lead to the same thing. It has that OOV This is why I am very , very scared of OOV In my view , lying is the root of all evil. Perhaps you are not lying , but you have been lied to. Islam has virtually never been violent , indeed it has almost never even been OOV Look at the 17th century ; in Europe , Christians are tearing each other apart in the greater religious war in history. Where do the persecuted Jews flee for safety ? The tolerant , peaceful Middle OOV There was not one single internal conflict in the Islamic world until the First World War ( aside from the borders ; the Ottoman Empire was still an Empire after all ) . So it 's silly to say that Islam is a violent religion. It 's not remotely backed up by history. You 'd have a hell of a lot more grounds for saying Christianity is a violent religion ; indeed , Christianity has been an extremely violent , political belief everywhere it OOV Political Islam , by contrast , is about 30 years old. In Afghanistan , for instance , the public turned to communism as their natural politics , not OOV Popular communism continued until it was overthrown by the OOV Taliban in about OOV Something has CHANGED since the 17th century , around about OOV Now what could that be ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV We have similar things in the US , and they 're the result of past discrimination of these same groups. In the US , blacks have been actively discriminated against for essentially the entire time our country has existed , and affirmative action policies are meant to even the playing field a bit for these groups that , as a whole , lag behind in OOV OOV There 's always a debate about whether or not it 's good or bad , but no one really has the answer here. OOV Generally speaking , in most countries , these are the ideas of OOV The right wing groups generally want worker 's rights limited and organized labor limited , so if this is something you 're in favor of , you probably actually have a leftist to thank for them. OOV So why has n't this happened in Scandinavia or most of the rest of Western Europe ? You 're always going to have people take every break they can in order to limit their tax liability , but increasing taxes on the mega rich does n't mean they 're going to leave. All this is is a case for better tax enforcement and tougher offshore laws. It does n't mean the premise is wrong .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Not all blacks are poor and , even then , they 'd need the quota for being OOV Would they have a OOV against an otherwise similar white person ? OOV Because of the culture .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV In the US , OOV There was a [ study done in 2003 ] ( http : OOV ) that submitted the exact same resumes to companies , the only difference being the OOV One resume had a traditionally " white " name , and the other had a traditionally " black " name. After about 5000 resume submissions , the " white " resume needed to send 10 resumes to get a callback , while the " black " resume needed to send 15 resumes to get a OOV Again , these resumes were identical except for the name. OOV So is n't that a problem with your society rather than with " leftists " ? The ideas are clearly valid and have been used to much success in other areas of the world .

(OOV_comment_begin) Blaming yourself ( or taking responsibility for a failure ) is a behavior that can improve yourself , but self-loathing is not. Taking blame or responsibility can drive someone to work harder , learn , and not make the same mistake again. (OOV_comment_begin) I agree with you. Nye is n't the right person. But do I think his debate counterproductive ? Heck no. If you want to challenge people like these , you OOV to understand where they 're coming from. And these people are n't scientists by any stretch of the imagination they are religious people , who operate under a fundamentally religious OOV By reminding them that there are people who are just as Christian as they are and yet completely in line with science , Nye turned the debate from a scientific one to a theological one which quite frankly , should have been the case from the start .

(OOV_comment_begin) You should be able to glean the principle from the example OOV Obviously , abortion is not exactly like situation proposed , and we could change the example so that it more closely resembles the situation. Perhaps you attended an enjoyable concert given by that violinist , with the entry fee being an entry into a lottery that might lead to being hooked up to that violinist to treat his kidney OOV Do you have the moral right to change your mind later ? The key idea is the answer to the question : are you morally required to give up your bodily autonomy to secure the life of another ? Even if you believe you are morally required to do so , if you think there are reasonable arguments to the contrary then it 's a women 's rights issue as well- nobody is arguing that the status of personhood of the fetus has no bearing on the issue of OOV We are simply saying that it also happens to be a women 's rights issue .

(OOV_comment_begin) Also a women 's rights issue , sure. But that is not the point. It is first a question of whether the fetus is a person. Only by answering that question can there be any OOV Ignoring that question , which both OOV you provided do , ignores a large majority of the population 's concern about the whole OOV Regardless of how it is decided , women 's rights towards it will be decided separately , but will always be based on the answer to that question .

(OOV_comment_begin) The hypothetical does not ignore the question of whether a fetus is a OOV it says , “ Okay , let 's assume for the sake of argument that the fetus is the person. Even so , there is still a debate to be had. ” You 're offended that pro-choice arguments seem to avoid discussing the personhood of the OOV But what this example shows is that whether or not the fetus is a person , there is a right to bodily autonomy to be OOV ( If the fetus is not a person , it 's clearly just an issue of bodily OOV and thus pro-choice people will object on the grounds that women have the right to their own sexual choices and OOV ) Your CMV is not “ The personhood of the fetus is a more important qualifier in deciding abortion than women 's rights. ” It was “ abortion is not a women 's rights issue. ” There is a discussion to be had about women 's rights regardless of the personhood of the fetus ( although if we all decide the fetus is not a person , it becomes rather overwhelmingly in favor of pro-choice ) - so in what sense is abortion not a women 's rights issue ?

(OOV_comment_begin) The vitriol is coming from our reaction to your dishonesty regarding what constitutes a reasonable discussion , and from OOV reaction to your apparent ignorance regarding what constitutes allowable OOV Your demand that your view is acceptable because you personally failed to come up with a counterexample is OOV OOV as a reasonable ( in the literal sense ) view to OOV Claims are not true until proven wrong , they are false until proven right.

Showing you that your view is wrong OOV only require pointing out that flaw in your OOV As to the vitriol : you ’ve been shown , multiple times , that your basic premise is OOV , and you have repeatedly tried to save it with special pleading ( i.e. “ OOV ” ) . So give me OOV OOV to think that when I show you OOV OOV widely spread legal profession that is unquestionably immoral , you wo n’t shift the goalposts OOV ? You ’ve already been shown *that* you are wrong , and you OOV Now , you need to listen to OOV you are wrong. If you can get that , then your view *really* will be changed .

(OOV_comment_begin) I ’m just referring to your OOV I ’m not having a problem with any other OOV And I have n’t demanded that anyone accept my view. In fact , I think the point of CMV is the OOV As to changing the goal posts , as I ’ve said a number of times , those goal posts were in the OOV Nothing ’s OOV If your point is that I did n’t explain why I think most widespread and lawful professions are moral in my OP , I take your point. It can cost upwards of [ $ 40 000 ] ( https : OOV ) depending on the OOV That 's simply not feasible for most people. The benefits are absolutely true , and adoption can be incredibly rewarding , but it 's not a viable option for a great portion of the population. The main argument is definitely cost rather than emotions , and I honestly really doubt that “ child bullying ” is a factor at all that deters people from OOV You also mention adoption taking place before the age of three , but you 're ignoring the large population of kids and teenagers that are waiting to be OOV In fact , OOV are often in so much demand that prospective parents are forced to wait on long waiting lists before they 're able to adopt a baby. (OOV_comment_begin) Let ’s dial it back a second : In this reply you have just said you will look at contributing factors ; what contributing factors did you look for in your “ affirmative action is screwing me ” section of your op ? In other words , saying something like “ black people are more difficult towards police ” is offensive as it almost deliberately ignores the cause of the problem ? If not , I will find OOV Do you accept that generations of psychological abuse through slavery and Jim Crow etc have had a negative impact on the mentality of people living in ghettos etc ? Mental OOV If you need links , say. Do you see the correlation between culture and history with regards to the current state of black people in the states ? Again as a quick simplification : history and culture lead us to where we are now - our social values etc. These differ slightly within a nation , a city , a street and so forth due to various factors ( race , wealth etc ) . Capitalist values for example have , over time , made it difficult for many Americans to see any of the positives of socialism , even when some aspects are very clearly OOV Likewise , since slavery , a conscious effort has been made to destroy the black nuclear family and keep them down. Mothers were stripped from their own children to raise white kids. Men were stripped from families leading to the “ baby momma ” issues of today. Lack of two parent family ( especially before recent times ) had a huge negative effect on bringing up well rounded kids , created a downward spiral where broken homes were the norm etc. Lack of access to education and “ white ” jobs meant they became valued less over time and drove blacks away from them making them more vulnerable to bad OOV Etc All of these factors and many more have created the idea that black lives do n’t matter as much. All of these factors and many more have created a situation where all things being equal , it is harder for blacks to access jobs and education. All of these things have made a situation where black ( men ) are disproportionately stopped , arrested , incarcerated and given longer OOV If not , I will fetch OOV And on an OOV If you are angry at people calling you “ racist ” , can you not see why , with a tell of this history and more , they have every right to be far more offended by not their current situation in America , but your op as well ? The point is even now that those constraints are not placed on women and all the feminist battles have been won , we are still subjected to this nonsense like “ well its not equal because women do n’t choose to become engineers ” or that “ omg women make 5 % less than men , must be sexism ! ” When in fact these difference are just biological reality at play. A lot of this is because certain groups of people are so entrenched in this personal identity of victimhood that they must constantly find the next boogie man to raise their pitchforks at. Without a OOV paradigm they do n’t know what to do with themselves. That ’s really what ’s happened to the feminist movement which transformed from “ women should have the right to vote and work ” into this perverted caricature of itself now that all those battles have been OOV We see the same thing if we compare what MLK had to say to the BLM movement. It ’s a perversion and actually stands for the opposite of its more righteous OOV These are a groups that clinging to their identity as a victim because they do n’t know life any other way. OOV You ’re making the faulty assumption that all bachelor ’s degrees are of equal difficulty to OOV Once you correct that mistake you ’ll realize they are obviously not the same level of education. An engineering degree is significantly harder to obtain than , for example , a liberal arts OOV Both of those enable you to teach children. Not so much for OOV Now if you are to become a college professor or something of that nature I think you ’ll find that the difficulty level of the education and the corresponding pay is about the same. Full time faculty professors at colleges make on average $ OOV for example. Realistically , a teacher of small children is a glorified OOV I ’m fully confident a majority of level-headed adults could perform these tasks if they really wanted to. What does their day really amount to ? “ OK kids time to read this picture book ; ok kids 2+2 OOV ; OOV sailed the ocean blue ; yada OOV ” And you believe that someone tasked with those things should make the same as someone designing complex technological systems or designing infrastructure ? It ’s just OOV That ’s not to K-12 teachers are not providing an immense social value. Its just that in a capitalist society we do n’t tend to value unskilled labor unless its involving sales or high risk to one ’s health. OOV You did n’t refute much at all. Watch the video. Tell me which side ’s argument you find more OOV You ’ve wasted enough time talking to me so it seems you ’ve got plenty of time to spare 30 minutes on something that may correct your faulty world view .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Feminism is a progressive moment , and has always OOV Feminist ideals ca n’t by definition be mainstream , because they are supposed to challenge mainstream OOV In the 50s , people saw the feminism of the time as “ bat shit crazy ” and thought that Susan B. Anthony was a sensible OOV So when I say recent political trend , I ’m talking about the feminism that began in the 60s in 70s which encouraged women to venture outside of the cult of OOV OOV Clearly they have n’t corrected completely though , as we can see from the statistics which have no OOV OOV Could n’t you have said that 20 years ago though ? What makes OOV exact OOV of disparity the result of genetics while the disparity of 20 years ago was the result of culture ? OOV OOV OOV Is n’t the difficulty of a major completely subjective though ? Especially in entirely different field. I , for example , probably would find engineering harder than you do , as I ’m not very interested in OOV You , on the other hand , seem to struggle with things like social OOV That ’s a very shaky foundation on which to assess the “ value ” of a OOV OOV I did watch the video , when you first sent it. It was thoroughly OOV It also presented no hard data OOV So I did my own research on the “ science ” presented in the video. I found a very solid rebuttal by an esteemed OOV You never responded to this , just complained about how I responded to “ one sentence ” of your OOV So as far as I ’m concerned , I refuted it. Unless you have something else to say about it ? I ’m pretty sure that I have convincingly responded to any “ evidence ” you ’ve presented me with. Let me know if I ’m missing something. P.S. I ’m counting all of the bullets of mine that you skip as little s (OOV_comment_begin) OOV That doesn t necessarily OOV It s possible for abortion to be legal , but extremely rare due to high education and OOV So yes , it was not a great example. OOV I would love to have most people share large ethical views such as slavery is wrong or women are people . Both of these views are widely accepted now but not OOV I don t care if people have different tastes ( which are the most delicious food ) . Tastes are preferences , and they rarely affect others. OOV You didn t actually provide any support for this. If everyone agreed abortion is bad or good , how would that prevent society from advancing and advancing towards what ? OOV I think this is more a call to avoid being irrationally invested in our views and for dispassionate debate , rather than an end to debate. The issue is that when people s views are personally harmful to you , it is completely natural to be OOV If someone wants to enslave you , it s reasonable to be upset and that doesn t invalidate slavery is wrong . OOV This only matters if both sides are using the same facts and agree to be OOV I m not sure what facts say slavery is ok other than say , divine command theory .

(OOV_comment_begin) I ’ll start with the OOV If everyone had the same view that slavery was good because it kept the economy stable and black people were n’t OOV Would we have had the civil rights movement ? No. People changing their mind changes society. But to jump on that. Who says that we are right ? What if we are just different. There is still OOV There are societies where woman still have 0 rights. You said you would want everyone to agree with you on large ethical views but to many people your view is wrong. The reason we have things like the holocaust is n’t because these people were necessarily evil. They had a different OOV I ’m not arguing about any matter and whether it ’s right or wrong because that goes against my point here. There is a 50/50 chance on every single core value and belief you have that you are wrong and trying to push a false OOV Every single opinion has two sides ( or more ) no matter what and both sides thing they are right for whatever reason. ( This is purposely over the top ) But just as a former slave might say yeah slavery was OOV I might say well I do n’t agree with taxes. 1/4 of my work life is slavery for the government. I hope we can get into this more and I ’m all for saying you changed my view I guess if you could answer this that might help Slavery is n’t coming back to the US anytime soon. Should we try to convince people who are still pro slavery that they are wrong ? To them making it illegal wrong and it was taken away from them. OOV There is still slavery other places so it ’s still OOV And our country at one point agreed that it was ok to have OOV So whose to say that it does n’t fluctuate and in a hundred years society will be pro slavery again ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV But what if everyone had the same view that slavery was bad ? How does that hamper OOV OOV And how does that benefit society ? That s what you still haven t OOV Your argument seems to be that the Slavery was ok because it brought about the civil rights movement , which is like saying being sick is ok because eventually you get better. It would have been best to not be OOV Also , I m unfamiliar with which countries have chattel slavery , if you could point me to them. OOV Nope , that s what ethical consistency is. Please explain how there is a 50/50 chance slavery is right. Someone haven t a different opinion doesn t make me wrong and them right. OOV That is so not chattel OOV You have a freedom of choice , of existence , that chattel slavery denies people. OOV Yes. OOV But that s not chattel OOV That s what I had intended to express , so I m revising my statement to be more OOV OOV Even if it is , unless you are a cultural OOV , that doesn t make it right. I specifically talked about the ethics of OOV OOV I m down for that , but you need to actually grapple with my points and not give me a 50 % chance of being wrong simply because there are 2 OOV Ethics is not flipping a coin .

(OOV_comment_begin) Well , I think you are halfway there , if not most of the way. You already realize there 's something wrong with the way you frame your actions and your situation. Every day something bad happens to everyone , something not amusing or OOV But it 's silly to think that they are caused by you OOV ! You got ta realize masturbating is not something bad , you are not OOV anything. It 's your own body , and it 's incredibly important to learn how it works and OOV Imagine someone feeling guilty because they exercised , of because they had interesting ideas. That 's silly ! Those are normal , natural and very healthy things to do ! Even exercise , that normally includes sweat and it 's messy and you get tired and your muscles ache , should n't this be a horrible activity ? Of course not ! Because you are doing something you know it 's good , and not only that , it feels good because your body releases feel-good hormones ! Also , I 'm The Doctor , but I think you may have some anxiety issues ? Or look at it this way , if God did n't wanted you to OOV , why did he give you the ability to do so ? Is he wrong ?

(OOV_comment_begin) I keep telling myself that it does n't harm anybody and hence should be okay. Some days I have myself convinced and then something shitty just happens out of the blue , like today. And about me having the ability to OOV , I also have the ability to do very despicable things , but it would be horrendous for me to exercise those OOV What do you mean by anxiety issues BTW ? How can I OOV it ? I 'd be glad if you could elaborate , if you do n't mind .

(OOV_comment_begin) About the anxiety thing , you feel guilty and blame it on OOV That 's kinda how some forms of anxiety works , there 's something that should n't bother you much that does. Also , I think you are very wrong in how you put the blame of things that happen. For example with your keys , you misplaced them because you made a OOV That 's it. Do n't try to blame it on something else you did or some kind of " destiny " or punishment , that 's a cop out. You misplaced them because you were careless , or made a mistake , or something else. Not because some oh disgraceful spell fell on you by OOV No .

156_delta_t1_de8k0c8.json (delta-ah)

(OOV_comment_begin) Many , if not most people ca n't talk about their root ideologies because they are n't OOV aware of what those ideologies are. Pretty much all of the hot button issues that divide us are highly emotionally charged , and people rarely examine the intellectual underpinnings of their OOV For example , take a joke that you get but do n't think is funny vs someone that thinks it 's OOV You can talk all day about why the joke OOV n't funny , but you 'll never really figure out the core OOV difference that makes the difference. The same can apply to things you find scary / repugnant / uplifting , etc , and these things can carry with them the weight of life and death .

(OOV_comment_begin) Which is why I think we should talk about these things. Of course no one is consciously aware of their root ideologies if they 're never mentioned .

(OOV_comment_begin) It 's worse than that : people have a really strong tendency to use subconscious core beliefs to pick a side , then justify that position using other evidence. They convince themselves that the other evidence is the OOV reason they hold those OOV Example : clearly , KKK members , OOV and slave owners had racism as one of their core OOV Yet , a quick Google dive will find you plenty of testimony from all three groups about why they are n't OOV You seem to be under the impression that they know they 're racist , and OOV Discussion about housing policy or affirmative action is just a proxy battle for the fight we should be having , over racism itself. I 'm saying that they are not OOV They legitimately ( and wrongly ) believe that they are not motivated by OOV Trying to make an OOV argument with them will fail , because they believe the core belief they are defending is “ states rights ” or “ personal liberty ”

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Then they do n't identify as either of the two OOV You do n't HAVE to follow the gender OOV Does n't mean there 's a third gender .

(OOV_comment_begin) As in : “ you can call yourself and do whatever you want , who OOV OOV there are 2 genders ” ?

(OOV_comment_begin) Well , OOV Gender is a social OOV That means humans define what it is. If you ask people how many genders there are , 99 % of people would say two. Therefore , there are two .

1181_delta_t1_cugf2po.json (delta-ah)

(OOV_comment_begin) But you have n't actually made any argument against the former , even though that 's the one you have used in your title , only against the OOV “ Feminism is only about equality ” is clearly true. After all , Affirmative action supporting feminism is only about supporting ( a particular understanding of ) equality , liberal feminism is only about supporting ( a particular understanding of ) equality , and so on , that 's true about all OOV as a whole. Without the implication that ONLY feminism is a valid understanding of equality , these are incredibly OOV statements that accurately communicate that feminism is not about something else than equality .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Not really , though. Discussions about female sexuality , for example , are most definitely common within feminism , but they have an end goal more focused on understanding one 's own identity than a broader idea of equality

(OOV_comment_begin) That still centers around the belief of understanding female sexuality has been a taboo that needs to be “ straightened out ” . It 's not done for it 's own sake , but to counter historical mistreatment .

444_delta_t1_dlbwt1v.json (delta-ah)

(OOV_comment_begin) Let 's go down the OOV OOV To start with , it 's kind of funny that this guy considers is disrespectful and OOV for someone to disagree with his beliefs OOV enough to respond to them , considering his entire argument is that we can distinguish between “ I respect you ” and “ I will ignore content. ” He wants the respect of being treated the exact same as everyone else regardless of what he does. But is aghast at the idea that women should be treated the same as men regardless of what they do ( like what they majored in in college ) . OOV Interesting , is n't it , that the author here argues the necessity of having different views represented and encouraged despite the natural tendency of the dominant culture to not appreciate those views ? And a desire to see the company changed to suit his desire that his smaller segment of the workforce be better represented ? Interesting , right ? OOV Except no one holds that extreme view. They hold the view that where differences in outcome have been observed between groups of people , rather than between two individual people , persisting across successive generations , it 's probably not just “ well they 're just different. ” OOV This should be fun. And let 's note the invocation of the ever-popular “ evolutionary psychology explains this because I can construct a scenario in which it would be evolutionarily OOV ” And then note that he does n't actually give any evidence for his claims that the “ psychological ” differences are “ universal across human OOV ” And a lack of evidence they 're related to prenatal OOV And a lack of evidence that the underlying traits are OOV In absence of evidence , this is just OOV He quotes one source , stating : OOV But clearly did n't read the actual article which requires making a big assumption : OOV In other words : if you assume that more egalitarian nations should lead to parity in job choices , you must explain the existence of a disparity in OOV OOV Small problem : this inconsistency can be resolved OOV by saying that this is the result of personal choice without cultural influence , OOV that the society is less egalitarian than OOV OOV I look in vain for a citation for this. Or an explanation of biological OOV More evo psych bullshit , you 'd think someone claiming to be one of those logical men who does n't need all those silly feelings would be able to tell the difference. OOV Which , again , can be just as cultural as anything else. One need look back only to World War II on the eastern front to see women expected to ( and fulfilling ) every demand for danger and physical labor with an almost fanatical OOV Look up the OOV , ask how many men you know working at goddamned Google would be willing to fly OOV planes without parachutes and OOV German OOV OOV Honest to god , this dude could n't be more OOV if he were a satirical version of one. Education does n't disadvantage competitiveness or OOV It pretty evenly splits between assignments requiring cooperation and those requiring OOV The problem male students face is that the same one this guy rejects : that some things are best done in one form as opposed to the other. OOV This is very correct. But belies just how OOV his previous arguments are. If men can be allowed to be more feminine , and some number would embrace that , it means that those men were adhering to gender roles solely out of societal OOV OOV pressure is neither evolutionary nor OOV And if that 's true , why would it not similarly be possible that women experiencing more anxiety , less drive for status and accolades , and even wanting more OOV balance are similarly due to societal pressures rather than some inherent fact of nature ? One need not go too far to find examples of women with drive and ambition being judged for not wanting families. Companies assuming that women ( even those with drive and ambition ) will eventually want a family and leave to be with the kids , and women who obtain power being immediately subject to all kinds of social admonition men do n't face. OOV Whoa there , OOV He above argued that google should want a greater inclusion of conservative views solely to eliminate a supposed bias and “ OOV ” OOV ” Not like my ideology which is based on my baseless understandings of evolutionary psychology and assumption that 21st century American culture is representative of all cultures ever. ” OOV Does he mean the ones he provides no evidence for and believe exist even when one controls for other factors ? Because while there is evidence for intelligence being OOV , it ( like height ) is influenced by conditions a hell of a lot. OOV That certainly is subject to an argument , yes. With many white men of minority viewpoints OOV about how their struggles for diversity are more important than the struggles for diversity by those who first have to get their foot in the door before their viewpoint matters at all. OOV Citation needed. Also a definition for “ OOV ” and why that 'd be related to “ OOV ” I 'm mostly going to skip the rest because it requires taking for granted three premises none of which he has demonstrated : ( 1 ) . That differences between men and women are biological and evolutionary rather than OOV ( 2 ) . That diversity of viewpoint ( and “ psychological safety ” ) is a more important issue than diversity of OOV Though odd that he does n't consider the “ psychological safety ” of being the only black guy in one 's department , or only Hispanic woman on a floor. ( 3 ) . OOV disrespect or discrimination is n't bad , attempts to end discrimination are silencing the voices of those poor downtrodden white men .

(OOV_comment_begin) I will go through your responses in detail , and give reasons for why it does n't change the view I hold , which is analogous to OOV view : OOV OOV This is a OOV of the statement you OOV What he is referring to is the culture of shaming someone because you disagree with them ( ie attacking them with OOV , OOV arguments and similar fallacies , instead of responding to their actual argument and engaging in a constructive debate ) , or simply silencing them ( ie how Googles [ VIP of Diversity ] ( https : OOV ) does n't link back to the original document in order to avoid spreading it ) . The response from Googles VIP of Diversity is actually somewhat of an example of what he is referring to : She simply states that the premise is entirely wrong , providing about as much citation and backing to her claims as the author of the paper does for his claims about biological OOV OOV OOV I personally believe that “ just being different ” is enough for certain groups to have different tendencies - which then later will be reflected in OOV But it should always be noted - as he himself does in the paper lots of times - that individual differences OOV outweigh differences between groups. For example here : OOV Let 's go on : OOV OOV OOV OOV This again sounds like a OOV of what was stated in the paper. The above quote shows that the author is heavily in favor of individuals being allowed and able to do however they choose , rather than doing any OOV based on their group. Your argument is against the view that “ Women just are n't suited to tech ” , which is a strawman argument , because the paper never stated this in a form as extreme as this. It merely stated that the tendency of the “ women ” group may be naturally guiding them to OOV things , but noting that he also states , as quoted above , that individual differences outweigh differences between groups , so this is no reason women should be discouraged OOV encouraged to join tech any more than men. He later even lists ideas that in his view would help women get a better footing in tech ( whether these would work , or if they make sense in your or my eyes is irrelevant as it still shows the intent ) . OOV OOV He stated previously in the paper that it is his belief that the bias and “ OOV ” he is referring to ( ie being PC , shaming and silencing ) is harmful to OOV Therefore , his view is consistent here about wanting to “ fix ” these things to help / optimize for OOV OOV OOV Going to OOV on the author and attacking them because they are expressing an opinion on the status quo that you disagree with is something I find harmful to your OOV Also he really just calls for evidence - a call where he later in the memo returns the favor , stating that if internal debate arises ( ie at Google ) he will provide OOV This could obviously just be hot air and he might not have credible sources , but it clearly shows that he OOV care about data and facts to support his views and would like the opposing side of the debate to do the same ( ie show the data and facts that make them reach their conclusions ) . OOV OOV I agree with the point raised by the OOV I also agree that its important to give people a foothold so they can develop their own OOV Also , you are assuming the author is a white man , instead of a black man , for some reason : - ) OOV OOV OOV OOV To 1 ) : I believe that differences in groups as wide as “ men ” and “ women ” arise by interactions of a lot of different OOV Why could biological factors not be one of those , alongside societal ? It does n't seem far-fetched to me that men and women in general have different behavioral tendencies due to biology , too ( note that [ hormones influence behaviour ] ( https : OOV # OOV ) , and men and women have different levels of testosterone ( and other hormones ) ) , not just due to societal OOV To 2 ) : I find it hard to weigh these issues , but I certainly believe that OOV are important. To 3 ) : This is less a blanket statement of his , from what

I understood ( correct me if he formulated it as one ) and more of a prioritization thing , ie he believes it is more important to be generally tolerant than to attempt avoiding OOV OOV themselves are a contentious issue , as there are people with different viewpoints on the issue. I do n't really have a strong opinion on this myself , other than that I believe that being generally OOV is more important than avoiding OOV I would really like to hear refutes to this paper that do n't build on OOV of statements the author makes , or ad hominem arguments , as these generally have no power in changing my view .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Yep , those are the complaints of someone who already has his foot in the door and sees greater harm from “ I ca n't express myself the way I want and have my company adopt my views based on my clear superiority of logic and reason ” than from other people not getting their foot in the door to begin with. That 's a distinction , but the fundamental conceit ( discrimination is bad , diversity of views is good ) is no different. The same “ the company can do what it wants and should n't give special dispensation to give a voice to the voiceless ” justification he has for the end of Google 's policies also applies to him. OOV You should probably look up the burden of proof and the null OOV Funny how the people quickest to throw out OOV “ OMG it 's a fallacy , that 's bad , I win ” arguments are also the most likely to invoke inane “ well I do n't have evidence that X is true , but you ca n't prove it is n't , so we 're equal ” OOV Since I 'm pretty sure you 're not ignorant or stupid enough to be unaware that the claim that “ there is a biological difference between these groups leading to X ” bears the burden of proving that , whereas “ there is not a biological difference ” need not prove the negative , it means you 're being OOV OOV And since your personal belief about the cause of a statistical reality is something more than an ad-hoc hypothesis , that should be granted credence because ... ? OOV Notice how you immediately have to soften his language. To reduce what he actually wrote : OOV to “ well he 's just saying there might be something there which maybe has some kind of OOV ” Defend what he wrote , not what may have been a more reasoned and temperate version of what he OOV OOV And if you take his unproven premise ( that the disparities between men and women in tech are explained by natural , immutable , phenomena ) to be true , you 'd be right to follow it to his OOV But since this entire discussion is over whether that premise is true , and he provides no evidence for it other than vague allusion to “ something something hormones ” and “ well evolution ... ” OOV And the “ OOV ” he rails against has stated that diversity is beneficial to Google , and it is more optimal to bring in a wider group of backgrounds into an industry largely dominated by white men. Hell , as Google itself has stated , this kind of inflammatory and baseless language is harmful to the work environment ( hence the supposed silencing of conservative views actually beneficial ) . If we 're not discussing substance , just “ intent ” , both sides intend to do good so what 's your point ? OOV If you 're going to use fallacies like magic words again , you should look up what they are. Noting that the author has the burden of proof to support his views and fails to do so is not a “ tu OOV ” Noting that he OOV the current system as being without evidence while providing zero evidence for the superiority of any other system is simply demanding that he fulfill his OOV OOV ” I 'll gladly pay you Tuesday for a hamburger today. ” He needs evidence to reach the threshold of legitimacy for a debate to happen. He does not gain equal footing with the official stance of Google based solely on “ well if you agreed to debate me I 'd provide evidence for all of the speculative claims I made while arguing that there should be a debate. ” OOV While having none which he is willing to OOV Generally when I care about facts and have tons which support my views , I 'm eager to get them out as quickly as possible. OOV Hm ... Are you saying that it 's important to give people the opportunity to grow and develop , even if they do not begin with all of the knowledge and skills necessary ? That there is a net benefit to giving someone a “ foothold ” or a “ foot in the door ” of growth and development even if they are currently behind the curve ? OOV OOV I 'll play the odds on this. Google is predominately white men , and I 've yet to meet a black person other than Clarence Thomas quite so committed to there being a genetic basis for his own OOV OOV Maybe it could , but that 's not what the author OOV I 'll quote again : “ Women , on average , have more ... This leads to women generally having a harder time negotiating salary , asking for raises , speaking up , and OOV ” Not “ could lead to ... and deserves further study and OOV ” He is claiming a causal relationship between a fact he has not demonstrated and an observed OOV OOV Except , again , what he wrote was n't “ hey I do n't know much about this , but we should OOV ” He wrote that these differences exist , are inherent and universal across all human culture , and are the result of evolutionary biology ( including that apparently modern monogamous heterosexual relationships in the developed world are reflective of all sexual selection across all of human culture for all of time ) . ” It does n't seem far-fetched ” is not data. OOV ” OOV training incorrectly and dangerously equates speech with violence and isn't backed by evidence. ” Ignoring his OOV of what OOV training actually states , that 's far from mere “ OOV ” OOV OOV OOV The author has failed to fulfill his burden of proof to gain even the slightest semblance of credibility worthy of being debated on OOV You invoke any number of fallacies , and ignore the biggest one : claims for the existence of a fundamental and inherent difference between groups of people requires evidence. Which , if I may be so bold , pretty squarely indicates that your agreement and defense stems from agreeing with him on a shallow and visceral level , rather than on any substantive one. The fact that what he wrote made sense to you does n't mean it has any basis in reality. If you need examples of that throughout human history , I am happy to provide .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV I think most people would agree with you on this point , but disagree that “ OOV ” has n’t been about creating opportunity in black communities , check out LBJ ’s “ Great Society ” OOV I think you need to examine why black people are trapped in systematic OOV Most black people in the US are descended from slaves who even after the end of slavery were never able to amass wealth because they never had the money for initial investments like buying land so they ended up working for the same people that had previously enslaved them , and then being more willing to move to northern cities for factory jobs during the industrial OOV This is not true for the US Asian population. People talk about how Chinese people were mistreated during the building of the continental railroad and Japanese internment camps , but the fact is that until the immigration laws were relaxed in the 60s there were not many asian people in the OOV The majority of Asian people in the US currently are either economic migrants who came here because they got good jobs or are their OOV Another important note is that those put in Japanese internment camps received some reparations for the wealth lost during their internment , US slaves never really got their “ 40 acres and mule ” .

(OOV_comment_begin) That ’s a good point for the Chinese who moved in here. That then files under immigration / OOV My point of view still stands though : Blacks need will be treated differently only if their income levels OOV What you are saying is more that their income levels will never reach those of whites because of slavery based OOV I do n’t think racism will go away significantly without wealth creation by Blacks

(OOV_comment_begin) I think you are trapped in a sort of chicken and egg scenario though , stereotypes are exploited by politicians to cut social programs which in turn perpetuate the systematic poverty and reinforce the stereotypes .

(OOV_comment_begin) Edit : I AM NOT OOV YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR A WOMAN JUST BECAUSE SHE ’S A OOV I ’M NOT TALKING ABOUT OOV AT OOV – – – – – Why should you be excited about who is president ? What ’s exciting about that ? I can tell you why some people are excited , but it wo n’t necessarily get you excited , because if the first woman president does n’t already get you excited , then me telling you that ’s why other people are excited is n’t going to change your mind. But I am excited to have the first woman president. It wa n’t at all about not having a white male in office ; it ’s about having a minority or a woman in office. That ’s so odd that you ’d think the whole point of the excitement over Obama was about the absence of a white man and not about the presence of a black man. The excitement was about the presence of a black man in the Oval Office , just like the excitement over Clinton is about the presence of a woman in the Oval OOV It ’s not about the absence of white men at all .

(OOV_comment_begin) So , you ’re willing to vote for the most establishment , least forward thinking candidate imaginable , just because she ’s a woman ? My point was that it was a lot harder - almost a miracle - for a black man to be elected president. Why should I get excited for a comparatively more privileged white woman , and a OOV one at that ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV No , do n’t jump to OOV I ’m only explaining why I and other people would be excited if Clinton were president ; not that I ( or others ) would vote for her. OOV How on earth are you arguing it ’s harder for a black man to be president than a white woman when we ’ve had a black man but not a white woman ? AND when those two exact people we ’re talking about competed in a primary election against each other ? It was an OOV “ study ” or “ test ” to prove which person is more likely to be chosen by the public - black man or white woman - and the public chose the man. OOV Well for OOV specifically , with the OOV thing , I would n’t try to convince you. But for a woman in general , I mean , I think it ’s self explanatory why that ’s exciting : it ’s breaking a glass ceiling and putting a woman in the highest office in the land as has never happened before. (OOV_comment_begin) While I'll agree with it in the proportions you specify, the question is how far can you take that? For example, I think clearly we would n't want to say that it's better for OOV criminals to go free than for a single innocent person be OOV. Because at that point, punishment for crimes is impossible, and we run into a whole different kind of "prisoner's dilemma" sort of problem. Is it OOV? That's generally the standard that people use colloquially, and honestly I think that's about the proportion that we have to use in order to have any chance of stopping crime. We can always recompense innocent victims if it can be shown they were innocent, but the people victimized by criminals we let go unjustly can't always be compensated, even assuming we were to try, which we don't. This is why the standard for guilt is OOV doubt, not all possible OOV. There is always some possible OOV. Sure, there must be evidence of a kind that convinces almost everyone pretty much completely (e.g. 12/12 randomly selected people seems about right). And that is what we do. It's easy to say this about 1 guilty person OOV one innocent person. What's OOV threshold? Do you just want all criminals to be set free? I doubt it, but extreme cases do n't tell us much about what is right.

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV There must be some kind of hard evidence. A person should not be convicted on circumstantial evidence alone. If a woman says she was raped, but there is no physical evidence of a rape, then the suspect should be set free.

(OOV_comment_begin) Just for rape? Or if someone accuses a thief of stealing their wallet, and identifies them in a lineup, and can be shown not to know the person or have a grudge against them, and testifies convincingly, but the police can't find the wallet or link the thief to it, they should go free? Basically, is all you're saying that eyewitness testimony by victims should be given no weight? That seems ... like a bad idea.

(OOV_comment_begin) Sure, I see your point. There are some serious flaws in your logic, though. I do n't think that a baby that is not yet conceived can be considered a "person." Additionally, if you are pro-choice, you must reject the notion that a fetus is a human; thus, you are contradicting yourself again. If you are pro-life, then abortion is out of the question anyway. Edit: Why not just let Darwinism do its thing?

(OOV_comment_begin) A fetus is not a person. But OOV talking about the child after he/she is OOV. Then whatever illness he/she has will produce OOV. I am trying to prevent that.

(OOV_comment_begin) You are resting your case on shaky logic then. How is it that you know for certain this child would prefer to be dead instead of alive? If so, why not just give the child the opportunity to commit suicide when they can make the decision for themselves?

(OOV_comment_begin) Ok, but what's the upside of holding the gun to my head? If you're talking a billion dollars if the Russian Roulette is in my favor, then I might do it. I have a 70% chance of winning a billion dollars, which might be worth it depending upon how much I value my own life. I'm not saying that you can be 100% sure that no infidelity has OOV. It's just that if there are no changes in behavior, no opportunity for infidelity, no interest in infidelity, no serious relationship problems in the appropriate time frame, or reason to suspect that infidelity had occurred, then what is the upside to tacitly accusing someone of infidelity? If you have reason to be concerned that's different and OOV. If you do n't that's a different ball of OOV. Did you know that accusing someone of infidelity increases the odds that they will be unfaithful? If you want to drive someone away, that's a great start.

(OOV_comment_begin) Good points (not who you were replying to, just new blood in this convo). I think OP would be more accurate if he stated that "past cheaters" are more likely to leave because of it, since they have displayed OOV in the past, and that's a hard thing to gain trust back on.

(OOV_comment_begin) If there has been a mature discussion about the concern, the past cheater shows signs of being

(OOV_comment_begin) The keyword in your CMV that I m going to latch onto is the word deserve . Some of the punishments received by people in various countries are cruel to say the OOV Often the degree of OOV is hard or impossible to fathom for anyone who OOV t experienced it. Others in the thread have already mentioned that people in Singapore ( and Malaysia ) receive OOV ( a form of torture ) for some OOV North Korea is the epitome of cruel and unusual punishment , placing people in concentration camps for the rest of their lives OOV the next three generations after OOV , where they have insufficient access to food , no access to information , no entertainment , virtually no interaction with other prisoners , and virtually no free time from hard , OOV physical OOV The view that you have expressed is that anyone who goes to a country and breaks one of its laws , even unknowingly or accidentally , OOV this form of punishment , and the only reason you ve stated for that is that one could have known beforehand what one was in for. If you honestly believe that , then you OOV t mind if your home country also started administering such punishments , or you would be OOV After all , here in the western world , we clearly lay out the fate that awaits anyone who breaks the law , so you always know what you re in for when you commit a crime , right ? But you know that European and North American countries do not , in general , make use of such inhumane OOV Why is that ? It s because their population ( largely ) believes that , as human beings , we OOV not OOV certain kinds of treatment , OOV after committing a OOV The kinds of gruesome punishments I m thinking of are considered to be OOV violation of human OOV , and criminals are humans too. Logically , you don t stop being a human when you go to another country , so it would be a OOV to say that a certain punishment would be OOV over there but not over here. Now , ( most of ) the population of ( most ) western countries believes this OOV about criminals who have committed heinous acts against their fellow OOV Your CMV , however , is not even about heinous crimes , but about political activism and religious OOV , both acts in which other humans OOV t even being OOV Any reasonable human being in their right mind would not consider a jail sentence to be a commensurate punishment for such an action , much less for it to be OOV The reason those governments jail you for it is because of political circumstances ( e.g. corruption ) and not because they really believe you morally OOV it .

(OOV_comment_begin) They do n't deserve punishment , but they should expect it. OOV They do. In the USA there 's plenty of innocent men sitting in jail , sometimes with life OOV It 's very likely that more than a few innocent prisoners were executed by the state. And we 've had political OOV And we have religious discrimination ( it 'll be a very long time before the American public will elect an atheist ) . OOV OOV They jail you because they can use you for leverage if you 're a OOV They gain a helluva lot more than you did. You did n't change the system one OOV Perhaps there 's 2000 people watching CNN who learned for the first time about country x 's government and its horrendous OOV That does n't help anyone .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV But in your CMV you said they do , so either I ve changed your view , or you were unclear about what your original view was : ) You totally missed my point about cruel punishment. It wasn't about OOV men sitting in jail at all. It was about what punishment a human being OOV , even in a hypothetical perfect system in which no innocent person is accidentally OOV You also didn't really make a point of your own ( about the USA ) . (OOV_comment_begin) The idea of a pay gap is n't necessarily about the same work being remunerated OOV While this might happen , and might be interesting to study more in depth ( for example , why are Women so systematically less assertive than men ? ) , that's not the only manifestation of the OOV There's also the issue of women , in general , earning less than men. This means that female , as a class of people , earn less than males in society . As you said yourself , high paying fields are male dominated , which is probably the reason for the OOV However , you need not consider this as a simple fact of nature , as you seem to be doing now. (OOV_comment_begin) Two key features to psychiatric illness are 1. Is it causing the patient harm 2. Is it culturally OOV If I'm assessing someone for psychotic symptoms and ask if they have ever heard voices , if they say " Yes after my mother died I thought I could hear her for a few days. But it went away. " or " Yes when I pray I can hear God speak to me " they are n't seen as having psychotic symptoms because those are normal experiences in some OOV So , if you're talking about this : http : OOV in the context of Tibetan Buddhism I'd say it's a culturally sanctioned OOV If you're talking about this : http : OOV ? OOV then it's tricky and the belief is certainly unusual in an American experience. But if the person is not suffering because of just that belief , then I do n't actually know if any psychoactive medication would eliminate the idea from their mind ( presuming the OOV is the only thing they believe in and they are n't having traditional hallucinations ) . Now , when people who have other problems create OOV , that's an interesting issue. From a psychological point of view I guess a OOV would be a maladaptive coping mechanism for handling whatever internal stresses they OOV But in that case you would be treating a person who is not (OOV_comment_begin) Good point , you did n't explicitly use that word , but there 's something in your language that makes me feel like you are blaming the women for encouraging rape ... I think it might go back to that dismissive " excepting " that I mentioned earlier : Women have always chosen this , ( except when they did n't ... ) it makes it sound like the situation they 're in now is the result of their choice , and neglects the fact that OOV has happened throughout ages of human development , up to and including recent times. ( The U.N. only declared rape a war crime in 2008 ... which means the holocaust rapes probably OOV prosecuted as war OOV Or Korea , Vietnam or what , maybe even Serbia , Mogadishu or Afghanistan OOV ) We 're looking at this from a perspective of today ... suppose they OOV with rapists so that they have adapted to tolerate it when it happens. Just because their body is capable of arousal during rape , does not mean that it 's OOV Heck , just because someone might fantasize about something does n't mean it 's OOV But more importantly , just because some ( not all ) women fantasize about rape , does n't mean that those who do not fantasize about it also somehow secretly , OOV desire it , does it ?

(OOV_comment_begin) It was n't a dismissive except , it was a preemptive except because the world is not absolute and my position was that women mostly choose whom mates with them but I knew someone would bring this up. So why is the rape fantasy prevalent in our society ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Sorry to split my points , but I had a couple more thoughts later. First , if a woman is enjoying the idea of being taken by force , then it 's not OOV , is it ? If ( in her fantasy , mind you ) it 's something that she wants , then it 's not rape , it 's consensual rape role-play between her and her OOV Not quite the same thing. But to get more to the OOV about it ... If the rape fantasy is a result of women evolving to want or enjoy rape , why do OOV have OOV fantasies ? I could n't find any statistics , but a cursory search indicates that it happens both in out gay men , and in " straight " dudes ... to me , that leans away from the idea that it is something particular to women. And more importantly to me , as a straight dude who does n't have fantasies of getting OOV , ( I 'm just guessing you are , stop me if I 'm wrong there. ) ... how would you feel if someone cited the fact that straight guys sometimes fantasize about gay rape , and used that to imply that somehow all straight guys as a class , including you , wanted to be raped by a dude ?

(OOV_comment_begin) I would indeed feel safer when disarmed by my government. i dont see how it is comforting for people to think that they can OOV the OOV by lethal force. look at the middle east in the past OOV various dictators have been forced to give up their power which they didnt ment to do. however they came to understanding when the people protested and they didnt need guns for that. coming back to my first OOV ; i dont feel like i need to have some control over the OOV , i just need freedom and protection from my government. (OOV_comment_begin) Target left because they were OOV about logistics and could n't keep their stores OOV They got greedy in trying to take over all of the OOV leases at once , and should have built up more OOV Future Shop and Best Buy have been the same company since Best Buy bought them in OOV The “ merger ” is just a branding change. Grand and Toy was also bought by a US company ( Office Depot ) . As to rising prices , overall inflation in Canada last year was [ 1.6 % ] ( http : OOV ) and Ontario 's unemployment rate is [ 5.8 % ] ( http : OOV ) which is not very bad at all .

(OOV_comment_begin) The Logic and OOV of Calculating the Inflation Rate It feels like we need to rethink how much weight we put onto the OOV inflation rate ( s ) , and look for more reliable numbers to see our arguments off. ” But even the Bank of Canada has grown unconvinced by the official inflation OOV In its latest Monetary Policy Report its quarterly publication on the state of the Canadian economy the central bank noted that even its core measure is being skewed by the temporary effects of currency fluctuations , spikes in meat and communications prices , and aggressive competition among OOV ” https : OOV

(OOV_comment_begin) I 'm happy to get into the weeds with you. If we are , we should begin by noting that OOV is not the producer of the inflation data. Stats Canada is responsible for producing the data. OOV is a consumer of that data ( and has greater needs than most consumers , as they have broad responsibilities for monetary policy ) . That said , the Bank of Canada does produce a very nice website which lists all the measures you could want in one handy chart ! [ Here it is. ] ( http : OOV ) Every measure they produce is between 1.1 % and 1.6 % inflation as of last month. That 's actually a remarkably narrow range , and indicates very strong confidence that inflation is almost certainly around 1 and a half percent , give or take a bit .

(OOV_comment_begin) Maybe but I think that America 's changing demographics are threatening enough to many of them that Republicans will dominate among them for the foreseeable future. Similar to what happened in the south in the 60s .

(OOV_comment_begin) Then the democrats are lost , and doomed to fail as a party. Its just numbers. Whites a still a large majority in this country , a political party that does not cater to their political views is a political party that will lose every election they vote in. What happened in the south never reversed ; that section went permanently OOV There is a very good chance this will happen again with northern blue collar workers and farmers ; if that does it will be OOV , OOV difficult for the democratic party to win OOV Like , ever again. Or in other words , the party will be dead and gone. OOV to exist. No , the democrats should be OOV that white people will start voting in lockstep , the same way they have tried to train other racial groups to. The chickens are coming home to roost , and the dems are utterly fucked .

(OOV_comment_begin) Not OOV Firstly , the idea that the Democrats are the ones who have turned race into an issue is wrong. Republicans have appealed to white voters just as much as Democrats have appealed to OOV The difference is that white voters are seen as the norm so the Republicans do n't think anything has OOV Plus Democrats have won the popular vote on 6 of the last 7 OOV That is n't OOV And also there are plenty of white people that share Democrat values .

(OOV_comment_begin) You can believe that , and it still does n't justify calling for violence against people who peacefully disagree with you. Once peaceful discourse stops then violence is justified .

(OOV_comment_begin) You seriously think OOV “ peacefully ” disagree ? So we have to wait for the OOV to first be violent before handling them ? The whole ideology of OOV rests on violence. If someone is marching around your house with a gun saying “ I want you to die ” are you going to wait until they shoot to act ? The freedom of speech should be defended , but there is definitely a line. We can use context and history to make a decision that is n't “ well , freedom of speech so whatever ” .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV I do n't see Nazis going door to door to do killing OOV I do n't see any organized effort from the OOV to commit violence on their OOV I see that happening on the left though. ¿ So we have to wait for the Nazis to first be violent before handling them ? I 'm getting really tired of this false OOV You do n't have to be violent to oppose OOV This country is founded on free and open debate. So debate them. Shut down their OOV Make your opinion known to any platform that gives them a stage. Violence is n't the only OOV OOV even if a whole ideology rests on violence it does n't mean the person advocating it is acting violent , and it does n't mean you have the right to silence them with force. They are free to say “ I want you to die. ” They are not free to say “ I 'm going to kill you. ” That 's the difference between a threat and free speech. OOV Who gets to decide where the line is ? Rights are there to protect all of us. Once you start OOV them for different groups who becomes the arbiter of what is protected ? Currently the government is that arbiter and they have many checks and balances against abusing this power .

(OOV_comment_begin) If someone offers you 7 boxes , you open the first and it 's full of shit - are you going to open the others or stop taking boxes from them ?

(OOV_comment_begin) I said you had the right to be lazy and not open the boxes , but if someone tells you that one of the boxes may contain something of value you may want to open them. It is also unreasonable to demand new boxes if you have n't opened the ones in front of you. ( Also this is a cute analogy , but it is just now how valid arguments work ) .

(OOV_comment_begin) Actually , the “ barista with an English degree ” is a fair OOV There are college degrees that do n't lead to much of a paycheck if the person with that degree is lucky to find a job in that field at all. These are the people who are first in line to vote for any candidate who gripes about the cost of the college education , when they were the ones who were such total snobs about their choice of major that they thought the student loan to paycheck ratio would n't apply to them. Getting a certificate from a good trade school still leads to opportunity for a better paying job than many college degrees and the military discipline of OOV 's plan will have the added benefit of knocking some humility into the OOV types .

(OOV_comment_begin) Maybe its better to acknowledge that our current college funding system is inherently OOV The rates for college tuition have increased significantly faster than inflation , while wages have remain rather OOV While people in the 70s and 80s could go to college without having to worry about crippling debt , the same can not be said today. Ideally , higher education should be completely publicly funded with tax payer dollars , do away with the tuition system OOV It 'll be A LOT cheaper and a lot more effective than the system OP came up with. OOV This is again , conservative OOV Its the typical “ moral decay ” that the older generation and the conservatives believe are affecting the next OOV Its a phenomenon that has existed all throughout history , and ultimately , those who buy into the moral panic are all full of shit .

(OOV_comment_begin) This is n't about the “ moral decay ” OOV It 's about the fact that there have always been prima OOV throughout history and we would n't have to suffer their presence if we had a reliable way to knock some humility into people who exhibit this kind of behavior .

(OOV_comment_begin) In theory , having the morals and sense of a community that religion is supposed to provide is always a net OOV It becomes a negative when the religion becomes a barrier to progress. For example , in many Muslim societies where women are not allowed to work , around half of the potential labor force participants are cut out , which greatly lowers the nation 's productivity .

(OOV_comment_begin) Can you please list the Muslim countries where women are n't allowed to work ?

(OOV_comment_begin) Turkey - 30.5 % labor force participation Saudi Arabia - 13 % of total labor force Qatar - 51 % labor force participation ( higher than I 'd realized ) Iraq - 16 % labor force participation

(OOV_comment_begin) It 's just funny you imply in one line that OOV against men are offensive to you , but in the very next you dismiss women who feel offended ( or as the internet has decided to OOV it , " triggered " ) and imply that they need to have a thicker OOV You 're proving the OP 's point : OOV Next : OOV No ? Because I can understand how hateful behavior or rhetoric can trigger a OOV response ? The behavior of Congressional Republicans causes OOV stress and anxiety which makes me feel ill , it 's not a difficult mental leap to apply empathy to people who might feel OOV Maybe address their feelings rather than dismiss them ?

(OOV_comment_begin) I did not imply that jokes against men are offensive to me , I am rather egalitarian in that regard and think nobody should get all worked up over OOV You are being triggered and having OOV responses to jokes and my opinion ? Why are you so different than my female cousin who is a doctor , or my wife who runs a business ? I will address your feelings right now , lets OOV I hate to say this , but I do feel as though I am talking down to you a bit , I feel that I have to soften my tone and treat you different because you are so OOV In your opinion , are you sensitive because you are female ? I do not believe you are sensitive because you are OOV I do believe it is because you are kept in a state of anxiety from the very people you turn to for OOV You are constantly bombarded with people whispering in your ear and telling you that everyone is out to get you , so you have become hypersensitive to the comments and read insults and bigotry in everything you read. What is it that is causing you stress and anxiety to the point of illness that Republicans in Congress are doing ? I am not a big fan of the government , but I have been trying to figure this out for a while. What exactly is it that is making you sick with worry ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Then why bring up the jokes against men as a reason for you being egalitarian if it did n't bother you ? OOV No , I find this whole exchange really amusing , especially with you condescending to me while OOV failing to understand my OOV Stress and anxiety can trigger physical sensations , that 's basic OOV To skip ahead for a moment to illustrate my point : OOV I 'm a OOV If the Healthcare bill that passed the House passes the Senate , the analysis of the bill says that I could expect a $ 5000 premium hike if community rating is OOV I 'm trying to move in with my significant other , who is still in school and ca n't work full time , so I 'll be expected to take on more than his share of the OOV With my savings , we can just barely make it until he graduates and get a job , but with a $ 5000 premium hike , we 'd be OOV That OOV me OOV , I get headaches and sick feelings worrying about whether we 'll be able to make ends meet or whether I 'd have to skimp on healthcare OOV I OOV So , going back to the above point , I know how a OOV of OOV can be threatening to OOV health , so I 'm more empathetic to the claim that a difference of opinion can affect other people 's health. OOV First of all , I 'm a guy. A white guy. A white guy who can make jokes about how the world would be better if we killed off all white men because we 're so terrible without getting triggered by it.

Second of all , I 'm “ so sensitive ” because I have OOV for *the struggles of other OOV Because rather than tell people why they feel the way they do and why they 're wrong , I listen to them and try to understand where they 're coming from .

(OOV_comment_begin) I was unintentionally vague , and apologize for that. “ Why you do n't need feminism ” , and the other videos were from OOV 's OOV I was referring to them to show how his views are opposed to that of OOV 's older audience , and her own , and her failure to comment on this OOV People would be a lot less mad if she addressed this. Men do have a lot of problems , but the documentary offers no solution , it just blames OOV It is completely uncritical of some of the worst offenders like Paul OOV From the Village Voice review : OOV It was also mentioned by the OOV as a misogynistic site in their intelligence report. https : OOV All this is easily visible from a cursory glance through a couple of google pages , and this bad press will stick to her .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV OOV how ? Show me evidence of any time a men 's rights group has called in bomb threats to a feminist gathering ? Oh right you ca n't because it 's never happened. But feminists did that to a men 's rights OOV And I know you 're going to say “ but those were the extremists thats not every feminist ” but here 's the thing. Nobody gives a flying fuck about the silent “ moderate ” OOV I saw no feminists standing up and denouncing that what happened was wrong. Their silence is saying they support what happened. OOV And feminism claims to be fighting for men 's rights but that 's a bold faced OOV Name one men 's issues that feminism has addressed ... oh right OOV Instead feminists have OOV fought against men 's rights supporters such as calling in a bomb threat to a small forum and on top of that feminists shut down a plan to build a men 's domestic violence OOV Feminism is a OOV Women are n't oppressed and the most recent major “ oppression ” they 're fighting is OOV .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Have you read the actual publications of the Russian Fox experiment ? If so what controls were set in place to make sure that this experiment was influenced by nothing but genetics ? A population of wild animals being bred and raised in captivity is an environmental factor of immense OOV OOV Scroll down and read the section titled OOV

(OOV_comment_begin) [ Dr. OOV OOV ] ( https : OOV ) stated that , [ “ Through genetic selection alone , our research group has created a population of tame foxes fundamentally different in temperament and behavior from their wild OOV ” ] ( https : OOV ) . I realize that her own credentials pale in the face of someone pursuing a “ medical doctorate ” so if you have evidence of environmental variables affecting the conclusions , I 'd love to hear them , as would , I suspect , OOV OOV Physical and biological ailments can of course affect OOV That does n't change the fact that IQ is 75 % heritable in the absence of them .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV If you think this contradicts my point then you misunderstand what she means by this statement. She is saying that these foxes , due to selective breeding of heritable traits which favor OOV , have essentially become the OOV equivalent of the domestic dog. In other words , their genetic make-up , which has been artificially changed through selective pressures , has created a population of foxes with a genetic predisposition towards OOV OOV tame behavior however , relies on more than just a genetic OOV The foxes have to be raised around humans , fed by humans , touched by humans , and experience various other OOV components involving humans in order to become OOV It is the exact same way with OOV Feral populations of dogs have the same genetic make-up as OOV dogs , yet they are often very fearful of and aggressive toward humans because they were not raised by OOV The purpose of this experiment was to show that domestication of dogs likely occurred due to artificial selective pressures rather than natural selective pressures , not that individual animal 's behaviors are determined solely by their OOV OOV OOV are only one type of environmental influence that affect OOV There is plenty of evidence that there are a multitude of other environmental factors influencing a persons OOV The article you reference lists several OOV OOV I think you misunderstand the role that genes and OOV play on phenotype and behavior. I stated earlier that genes do not determine anything , which was admittedly poor wording , so I will clarify : Genes do not determine specific traits , genes provide OOV for specific OOV OOV is the proportion of variance in a trait which can be attributed to genes within a specific population in a specific environment. The fact that IQ is 75 % heritable means that , of the factors influencing the OOV of IQ within a OOV , 75 % of those factors can be attributed to genetic OOV It does not mean that an individual person 's IQ is 75 % genetically OOV We do not know and may not ever know exactly to what degree our traits are influenced by genes vs the environment. It has been the subject of continuous debate amongst researchers since the discovery of OOV That being said it is generally accepted among scientists that our traits arise from a combination of both. Though there may be evidence of differences in genes linked to variance in traits such as IQ among different racial groups , to come to the conclusion that it is the reason for lower IQ scores on average is a huge OOV It does perhaps warrant further research into the topic , but the problem with that is that it deals with a subject for which it is very difficult to avoid an implicit bias and therefore come up with valuable objective data .

(OOV_comment_begin) The equation is not useless in itself , since the way the probabilities are set up are OOV Seems like the main issue you have is simply how the variables are OOV Which makes sense. But the beauty of the equation is that you can at the very least estimate the variables based on our existing knowledge of the universe and over time hone in on better estimations of the OOV So here are the variables : OOV  $f_p$  = the fraction of those stars that have planets  $n_e$  = the average number of planets that can potentially support life per star that has planets  $f_l$  = the fraction of planets that could support life that actually develop life at some point  $f_i$  = the fraction of planets with life that actually go on to develop intelligent life ( civilizations )  $f_c$  = the fraction of civilizations that develop a technology that releases detectable signs of their existence into space  $L$  = the length of time for which such civilizations release detectable signals into space Of those ,  $R$  ,  $f_p$  ,  $n_e$  , and probably  $f_l$  can be reasonably estimated with our current knowledge.  $f_i$  ,  $f_c$  and  $L$  we do n't know about , but can maybe assume is OOV If we assume they 're non-zero and can reasonably estimate the others then we can at least establish OOV non-zero number. So it does n't really matter how small those numbers are , just that they 're OOV The reason we are allowed to assume those values are non-zero is because we exist. So it seems logical that odds are there are others out there. The bag of envelopes has one black spot , so it makes sense to believe that there might be at least one other black spot in a bag of that many OOV Does n't mean it 's true , but statistically speaking it 's OOV That 's the whole point of the Drake equation , not a set value of how many OOV are out there ... just that odds are there 's something else out there .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV It matters. OOV is OOV OOV I do n't think you can justify that .

(OOV\_comment\_begin) OOV Multiply that by whatever gigantic exponential you get from how many stars exist in the universe and how many potential planets they have , and it starts to point towards a  $\geq 1$  solution. OOV Can you more easily justify that there are no other black spotted envelopes ? Just because you open a billion envelopes out of " OOV " and do n't find one is n't any better justification to say there are n't any more .

(OOV_comment_begin) My wife and I have been married for five years , together for OOV We have a four-year old. I earn enough on my own to make a comfortable middle-class OOV I 'm also completing a graduate degree at night , so my income should increase further from here. My wife never began a career because she spent the past four years as a stay-at-home mom , providing stability and comfort for our child while I worked long hours and furthered my education. Today , she works part time at a fabric store while our child is in OOV Her income is a help to our household , but strictly speaking we do n't need it. We rent because my job may require relocation , and has in the past. If we divorced , she would be OOV Sure , child support would help , and if she cashed in her share of the 401 ( k ) it would last a while , but she 'd be OOV She 'd probably need to move back in with her parents several hundred miles away , at least temporarily , taking our child away from not only her dad , but also her friends and her school. It would magnify the pain of an already terrible situation. No health insurance , no retirement , no home. She would be starting from scratch with no real work experience , in her early OOV OOV would help her find (OOV_comment_begin) Okay , so I 'm absolutely not arguing for terrorist suspects to be interrogated on bs grounds such as they are muslim in the US and said “ -- ” which loosely can mean this. I 'm talking about terrorists we capture overseas , in America , or get from other countries. I ’ d rather be burdened with the knowledge I ’ m going to die and prepare for it than be a tree and just die OOV Evidence though ? If you ’ re asking for evidence in something so philosophical I ’ m going to presume you ’ re halfway to the tree in intelligence anyway .

(OOV_comment_begin) Your insult notwithstanding , I ’ m not sure this is the right sub to just give opinions that you do n’t argue for. What I was saying is that if you want your opinion to be taken seriously , you ca n’t just say that the human experience is “ better ” than the tree ’ s experience and not ( 1 ) define what you mean by “ better ” and then ( 2 ) explain why humans fit that definition better than trees do ( perhaps by using some examples to illustrate : i.e. evidence ) . As for you calling my intelligence into question , I ’ m tempted to not respond to such an impolite comment on a sub that values dispassionate discourse , but suffice it to say that I am a doctoral student at a tier 1 research OOV In any case , I ’ m not even disagreeing with what you said originally , I was just saying that in a sub like this it seemed like it should be just a little more backed up with reasons why you believe what you said is true .

(OOV_comment_begin) We are in OOV not OOV or OOV A big part of arguing a point , is better understanding the point you are arguing OOV It is good form to clarify , and question your opponents view so that you understand them. Take our interaction as an example - you ’ ve literally no understanding of my position on this OOV I think that approach is a OOV If that process offends you , this might not be the right sub for you. At this stage , I ’ m not sure what to tell you - there was no need to make our interaction OOV At least not until we work out OOV we OOV OOV .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV So when some one replies to someone making an argument here , we make the assumption that that individual is trying to ... I do n’t know , what ’ s the phrase again ? Oh that ’ s right , “ Change Their View ” .

(OOV_comment_begin) Or understand that view , questioning their claims to have a fuller understanding of that view before attempting to change it. Or maybe even deciding not to. I 'm getting a weird sense of deja OOV I think you 're digging a hole here. And since this interaction is n't really serving to benefit the issue being discussed in this thread , I 'm just going to end this OOV Have a good weekend .

(OOV_comment_begin) Do n't be gay and in the OOV They straight up do n't fit together
(OOV_comment_begin) Er the UK Army is actually fine with LGBT people openly OOV We have never had DADT and you have been allowed to openly serve since 1999
(OOV_comment_begin) Legally , yes , it 's acceptable to be gay in the OOV However , there is an overwhelming amount of gay " banter " in the OOV You 'd be better to join the bender squad ( navy )

(OOV_comment_begin) He did n't change my view about anything .
(OOV_comment_begin) You : There is not a single rational reason for a citizen of the developed world to continue eating red OOV Him : Well , you said " there is not a single rational reason " and that is , in fact , a single rational reason. You do n't have to be a OOV to weigh pleasure in the " pros " side of a rational decision. You : OOV are OOV Face it , he CMV 'd you but you 're too proud to award him his delta and you know the mods are too busy OOV for curse words that they wo n't notice you OOV .
(OOV_comment_begin) My view was already changed OOV If he were to change my view he 'd have to change it back to " there 's no rational reason " . Also , he offered really no new information to the point by the guy I first answered to , so if anything that delta thing should go to that first guy .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV You said " It 's easy to say you 'd kill 5 , but that 's not the same thing as doing it. However good motivation could change my view. " You believe that " killing an innocent is wrong " is a good motivation , yet I 'm still not seeing any OOV OOV Earlier he acknowledges that " It gets a lot more tempting with more people " and that he would " certainly see why that 'd compel a person to act if it saves a thousand lives instead of just five " . I do n't know exactly how that makes him a OOV OOV You already admitted that you shifted your OOV But for some specific examples : - You said you 'd " like to see someone verbally admit that killing 5 makes sense to them " - Now you want me " to find a real event , where a person faced a OOV choice and chose to do nothing " - You said you wanted an example of someone " who claimed that they would kill 5 " - Now you 're saying that is n't good enough because there " is a pretty big gap between saying you believe something and actually believing it. " - You said " I can also vaguely conceive that someone would hold that view. But that does n't mean somebody actually does. " - I showed a bunch of people who hold that view. Now you 're saying " I assure you , I already knew about those people. " - You said " there is no moral system ( that somebody actually uses ) which would prefer killing 5 for 1 " - I showed a OOV moral framework ( that people actually use ) which supports not throwing the OOV Now you want to hear a person say " my heart says that doing nothing would morally be the the right thing to do " rather than a moral framework OOV You claim : - You would " seriously choose to kill 5 to save 1 " - You would " definitely choose to save 5 " These directly OOV OOV " Killing " is a word used to refer to a specific act that occurs in a real OOV OOV You acknowledged that throwing the switch constitutes the act of killing OOV Why do you think it 's unreasonable for someone to connect that to " killing is wrong " - j " I should n't do this " ? OOV So to clarify :

you do think that there are some people would choose to do nothing. OOV This makes no sense though , because I've shown over and over again many people who obviously understand the problem , are n't confusing it with the fat man variant , and OOV would n't throw the OOV Not to mention all the professional philosophers who obviously understand the problem since the " trolley problem is philosophy 101 " . - [ Judith Jarvis Thomson ] ( http : OOV ) - [ reddit user OOV ] ( https : OOV ) - [ Clark Giles ] ( http : OOV ) - [ reddit user OOV ] ( https : OOV ) Either : - All these people are lying - Or your conjecture that " there is nobody who would actually refuse to flip the switch " is OOV OOV " killing an innocent is wrong " is a completely foreign sense of morality ? OOV One nice aspect of the trolley problem is that it reduces the number of variables to a bare minimum , which helps to make sure " everyone is thinking of the exact same circumstances " . The falling plane scenario is a little different in that : - You put those people in danger when you decided to fly the plane - It 's much harder to imagine this as a binary decision. Why are the only options two specific sites ? You have enough control of the plane to land in two totally separate locations , should n't you have enough control to adjust how you land ? How do you know ahead of time exactly how many people will die in each scenario ? Someone in a car would have a pretty good chance at driving away , right ? Presumably crash landing into a parking lot is more OOV than crashing into an office building , does n't that factor into it ? Do you have a parachute , can you eject from the plane ? Because of all that , someone could say they would n't pull the switch in the trolley problem but OOV divert the plane and still be morally OOV OOV Two people who think X is not really great evidence that every single person thinks X. Especially since there are many , many , many , many examples of people who do n't think X. And on top of all that I've even shown real-world examples of instances where people displayed a " moral intuition " that was different from yours. OOV I've definitely brought up new points , you've just ignored them. I wrote up [ this post ] ( https : OOV ) you pretty much just ignored it .

(OOV_comment_begin) I do n't recall stating that " killing an innocent is wrong " is sufficient OOV I did pretty much call that sort of argument unacceptable in the last post , though. More importantly , I ca n't help but feel that you've built a straw man here. I know there are people who occasionally say they would kill 5. I know some of them are OOV I know others too try to present rational sounding OOV " I do nothing because killing is wrong " is the most obvious and trivial of these rational sounding OOV How did you even conceive that this argument would be unexpected for me ? I do n't know , maybe I said something that you interpreted as a request for just any single OOV But did it seem reasonable to you that this sort of thing would change my view ? Do you even understand what my view is ? Can you rephrase it ? OOV He said a lot of things in his OOV Most of them seemed OOV The lines you quoted are reasonable too. But I have no idea what purpose they're OOV Reasonable arguments do n't cancel out unreasonable ones. He may have only mentioned consistency once , but that 's enough to make me suspect that he 's just trying to fit into the framework he OOV OOV Those are mostly alternatives , and some of them seem perfectly equivalent to me , while others are not so much goalposts , as minor arguments I've used. And I think I said this already. First I wanted to talk to somebody who said they would kill 5. That did n't work out. OOV has n't replied to my PM either , which was probably to be OOV Second I asked you for a detailed and honest explanation by someone who said they would kill 5. That was intended as a substitute for a OOV Maybe I was n't clear on what that means ? " Detailed " is not the same as " long " . OOV moral frameworks is pretty much the opposite of " honest " . And an argument like " killing is wrong " is the opposite of " detailed " . It explains nothing. How do you define killing ? Why is one choice a killing , but not the other ? Where did you even get that rule from ? Does it make sense to you to talk in absolutes ? etc. So that did n't work out either. Seeing that , I propose a third OOV To present a real event similar to the basic trolley , where somebody chose to kill 5 , while not being obviously malicious or OOV I thought this would be easier for you , since it severely limits the number of problems I could find with some event you OOV But the old goalposts are still there. You're free to bring a person , or to find more explanations , as long as you understand why I rejected the previous ones. OOV That 's pretty much my point. When you talk in absolutes errors of logic and generally ridiculous conclusions tend to come up. That 's pretty much why I find the motivation " killing is wrong " - i " I should n't do this " OOV OOV Yes , the " evil " and the OOV I thought we talked about this ? OOV " killing an innocent is wrong " is within my sense of OOV Instead , " I wo n't do something wrong no matter how bad the outcome is otherwise " would be OOV As would " when a choice is forced on me , I can do nothing and then bear no responsibility for what happens afterwards " . Such are the arguments I would need to justify killing 5. I find them completely OOV Do you disagree ? OOV There is absolutely nothing in the comment by OOV that would suggest he 's not talking about fat man. In fact , he probably is. Not sure what he is doing in your list. Other comments are longer and I may have missed something. Do you want to find some sort of evidence to back your claim ? OOV I think we use different definitions of OOV A variable is something that could OOV That is , something different people could assume to be different. I tried to explicitly fix a value of everything that could vary in the plane OOV On the other hand , in the original trolley , some could assume you 're the driver of the trolley or an operator of the system or a random OOV They could assume that the 1 and 5 knew which path was the default , when they chose there to go , or that the default path changes OOV They could assume that the 1 and 5 are professionals who knew the risk , or random people or victims tied to the tracks by a OOV Surely we agree that altering a few of these could change the choices of many people. Why does it seem weird to you that 10 % of people automatically make some of those assumptions ? And why is it wrong that I want to force everyone to be making the same OOV So yes , I made you a OOV Is that a problem ? OOV What other options could there be ? Do you want to crash into somebody 's house ? The center of a large town probably does n't have places less populated than parking OOV Also , I was thinking about the parking lot of that building , that is , they would be like 50m away from each other. I doubt falling planes have more OOV than that , especially by the time you 're low enough to tell where you 'll OOV OOV You probably do n't , but does it matter ? It seems obvious that crashing into a building will kill more than crashing into a parking lot. If you 're worried that crashing into a parking lot would kill nobody , then we could add a kiosk or security guard house. Is that better ? OOV I do n't think you could reasonably survive either OOV I myself like that you die after the choice. It prevents arguments about legal responsibility , which I do n't think should matter. But if you would prefer that , we can add a parachute and OOV Either way , the choice should n't change your personal OOV So if we make these modifications , will you agree that the plane scenario v2 is a fair representation of the original trolley , and then claim that there are good , sane people who would choose to do nothing , because " killing is wrong " ? OOV Are you talking about the man drowning after a dare ? Did that seem like " moral intuition " to you ? OOV I 'm not seeing anything new in that post. Just your usual criticisms of my criticisms of your old points. I ignored them because I wanted to try something different. But if you feel that there is something important I did n't address , you 're free to bring it up again .

(OOV_comment_begin) Earlier in this thread [ another user pointed out ] ( https : OOV ) that " there are people who chose to kill the 5 " which you said you " find false " . You clearly stated here that your view is that there are not people who choose to kill the 5 ( i.e. do nothing ) . [ You state this explicitly elsewhere too ] ( https : OOV ) : " My point is that there is nobody who would actually refuse to flip the switch " . I asked if " you do think that there are some people would choose to do nothing " and you clearly stated here that your view is " Yes " there are some people who would choose to kill the 5 ( i.e. do nothing ) . Since your stated view in these two cases are clearly different , I expect a delta .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV So we should only call someone an artist if they can make enough money to support themselves on it ? Many famous painters and musicians did n't make enough to live off their art. OOV This seems like a OOV I agree with your general statement that all humans can be creative and to some extent refer to themselves as OOV But I do n't think it makes a lot of sense to call someone an artist based on their success in profiting from their art , capitalism is n't a great art OOV We can say that some artists are better than other in a general sense , but why ca n't amateur or learning artists call themselves artists ?

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV If someone is famous for their OOV they are making a living off of it. OOV Calling yourself an “ artist ” has become pretentious ( “ I ’m an OOV ” with a dumb beret and a smug face ) . In terms of a profession , the same way you should n't call yourself a house builder until you can build a sound home ( being able to make money off your craft now comes with the OOV OMG OOV IT ’S THE OOV ! ! ! ) , you should n't call yourself an OOV “ Starving artist ” is the tongue-in-cheek , proper term .

(OOV_comment_begin) OOV Definitely not true , many artists only become famous after they die , others become OOV Especially early recording artists who used to get really screwed over on record deals and barely made any money despite being OOV OOV It ’s pretty clear you have an idea of what artists are like in your mind which really does n't match up with reality ( again , a strawman ) OOV I think you ’re assuming that the term “ artist ” confers some degree of OOV You can be a bad artist , just like you could build a shitty house and can yourself a house builder ( whatever a house builder is. Carpenter maybe ? ) . Giving yourself the title of OOV just says that you can do something not that you can do it well. Anyone who makes art can call themselves an OOV That does n't mean that their profession is “ OOV ” Again your issue here seems to be that you assume that if someone does something they have to be able to do it professionally ( make money on it. ) But you can be an artist , writer , carpenter , etc. and not have that as a profession .
