

Text Mining - Next Steps for Drug Discovery

William S Hayes, PhD, Discovery IS/IX, AstraZeneca R&D
35 Gatehouse Dr, Waltham, MA, 02451 USA
William.S.Hayes@astrazeneca.com

The text mining community has shown significant impact for use of text mining in drug discovery and basic research. So far, there have been a lot of point solutions that have solved a particular problem or augmented a valuable database. The next step is integrating text mining as part of the entire literature analytic solution and delivering it effectively and comprehensively to support research in academia, biotechs and pharmaceuticals.