The Word Is Out... Introducing Alis Translation Solutions (ATS)

Global corporations, on-line service providers, Alis Technologies brings good news. In Spanish. In German. In Japanese (and then some).

Our live demonstration will show you how these new, cost-effective solutions break down the language barrier at all levels of corporate communications, and help organizations and on-line service providers increase their productivity and market outreach.

ALIS TRANSLATION SOLUTIONS (ATS)

Unlike translation tools and services acquired separately, Alis Technologies has developed a flexible and synergistic system that integrates the particular strengths of these disparate tools and services into a highly effective solution that is tailored to your hardware and software environment.

- TRANSLATION SOLUTIONS FOR CORPORATIONS

(Translation of Web sites, Web pages, E-mail, office documents and workflow management)

Communications With Customers

Corporations often run into difficulties when they attempt to break down the language barrier for their existing and potential customers. Take the Web site for example, often available in only one language. The Alis Web Site Translation Solution gives corporations the ability to reach and/or support diverse language markets with an always up-to-date multilingual site.

Communications With Employees

Internal communications are frequently hampered by language differences. With a made-to-measure Alis Translation Solution, corporations can improve the efficiency of their internal communications by giving their employees the ability to quickly translate any of the electronic documents they work with daily by using machine translation.

- TRANSLATION SOLUTIONS FOR SERVICE PROVIDERS

(Translation of Web pages and E-mail)

With the Web reaching an ever larger pool of people from various cultural backgrounds, the discrepancy between English-only sites and the ability of on-line service subscribers to understand those sites in their own language is fast becoming a critical shortcoming. By implementing an Alis Translation Solution on their server infrastructure, service providers can widen their subscriber base by offering subscribers the option to translate Web pages or E-mail into their own language with the help of machine translation.

More Than Just Software...

Alis Technologies is much more than a product-only company. Our expertise is also reflected in the range and quality of services that our team of experts can offer. These range from consultation to customization, implementation and support. Every Alis Translation Solution is designed to be a turnkey, worry-free solution that exceeds stand-alone language applications in translation quality and cost-effectiveness.
